NEW BOOKS

For Publication During the Fall of 1909

READY IN NOVEMBER

The Most Remarkable Book of the Year

LIEUTENANT SHACKLETON'S

Antarctic Expedition 1907-1909

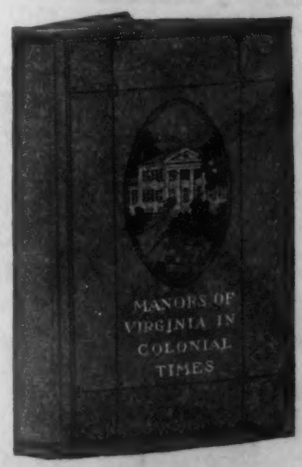
Nothing could be more timely than the announcement of Lieutenant Shackleton's own story of his Antarctic expedition, 1907-1909, which is promised in book form this coming November. Although Lieutenant Shackleton's goal lay in the opposite direction of Peary and Cook, and his path led into a much less explored section, he succeeded in locating the South Magnetic Pole and came almost within sight of the South Pole.

This will be the first exhaustive work on a subject that is creating a veritable sensation in all parts of the civilized world at the present time. It is not merely made up of newspaper articles and fragmentary sketches, but is Lieutenant Shackleton's own account of a wonderfully successful expedition, carefully planned. Outside of the important scientific facts and discoveries revealed in the books, it teems with exciting adventure, is filled with unusual illustrations, and will undoubtedly be recognized as the greatest work of exploration of the year.

12 color plates and over 300 illustrations from photographs. Three maps. Two volumes. Royal 8vo. Cloth, $10.00 net.

Manors of Virginia in Colonial Times

By EDITH TUNIS SALE



This charming book gives a delightful insight into the rare old manor-houses of Colonial Virginia; glimpses of renowned portraits limned by Sir Joshua Reynolds, Sir Godfrey Kneller, Van Dyck, and Sir Peter Lely, which in turn are followed by pen pictures of old grandees and imperious beauties. And through it all the author has woven the tales and legends with which the manors abound.

Sixty-seven illustrations and twenty-two coats of arms. Handsomely printed on fine paper. Octavo. Decorated buckram binding, gilt top, $5.00 net. Limited Edition.

Those Nerves

By GEORGE LINCOLN WALTON, M.D

Author of "Why Worry?" and "Practical Guide to Wild Flowers and Fruits."

A new volume continuing the subject of nervous troubles, real and imaginary, uniform in size and style with Dr. Walton's very successful little book, "Why Worry?" which has gone through seven editions, and has been among the best-selling "non-fiction" books for some months.

The author treats his subject under trite headings, such as, "The Human Sensitive Plant," "Side-tractibility," "Character Leakage," etc.

Frontispiece.

Decorated lining-papers.

Octavo. Cloth, ornamental, $1.50.

THE BIG NOVEL OF 1909

ROBERT HICHENS'

MASTERPIECE

BELLA DONNA

A powerful novel of the Egyptian Desert, the Valley of the Nile, the Temples, and the Pyramids.

(Ready Early in October)

ROBERT HICHENS' forthcoming novel, "Bella Donna," has provoked much anticipatory interest, not only because of its interesting title, but on account of the announcement that the noted author had returned to the region of his greatest triumph, Africa, and set his scenes in that wonderful country. ¶ "Bella Donna" is infinitely more human than "The Garden of Allah," and the Egyptian setting is one peculiarly suited to Mr. Hichens' extraordinary talent. ¶ His unusual gifts of character analysis and delineation, of imparting vital and harmonious color effects, together with his consummate craftsmanship, make his novels almost perfect works of art. ¶ The new story opens in London, but quickly changes to the Nile and the Egyptian pyramids, temples, and desert, where the reader is immediately enchanted by the mystical charm of that alluring atmosphere. "Bella Donna" is a powerful drama —a contest between materialism and idealism, between a man who loves the soul and the woman who adores the body.

Lippincott's New Fall Novels

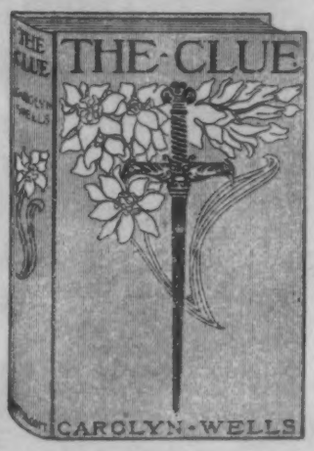
Phoebe Deane

By GRACE LIVINGSTON HILL LUTZ

Author of "Marcia Schuyler" (Five editions)

Mrs. Lutz's new story of the little orphan, Phœbe Deane, is as modestly refreshing as a whiff of fresh lavender or a handful of old-time clove-pinks. The scene is laid in New York state, the time of 1830, and the reader will be pleased to renew acquaintance with "Marcia Schuyler," who plays an important part in the development of the plot. The romance of Phœbe's struggle against large odds to marry the man she loves is tenderly appealing and filled with many dramatic scenes. It is a story that creeps very close to the reader's heart and lingers there.

Frontispiece and five illustrations from paintings by E. L. Henry, N.A. 12mo. Cloth, with medallion, $1.50



The Clue

By CAROLYN WELLS

This is a detective story, and no better nor more absorbing one has appeared in a long time. The book opens with the violent death of a young heiress—apparently a suicide. But a shrewd young physician waxes suspicious, and finally convinces the wooden-headed coroner that the girl has been murdered. The finger of suspicion points at various people in turn, but each of them proves his innocence. Finally Fleming Stone, the detective who figured in a previous detective story by this author, is called in to match his wits against those of a particularly astute villain. Needless to say that in the end right triumphs.

Frontispiece in color by Frances Rogers
12mo. Cloth, $1.50

The Man in the Tower

By RUPERT S. HOLLAND

An exciting and highly dramatic novel, the central idea of which was suggested by the legend of "the invisible prince." The report goes that a certain prince living in one of the small countries of Eastern Europe has sat upon the throne of his country for more than twenty years and yet has never been seen by his subjects. The story of "The Man in the Tower" is laid principally in the mythical kingdom of Altenstein, fast in the Balkan mountains. Intrigue, conspiracy, rebellion, and fierce fighting crowd upon each other in quick succession, forming a romance of engrossing interest for the lover of mystery and adventure.

Illustrated in color and half tone by Frank H. Desch

Longshore Boys

By
WILLIAM O. STODDARD, Jr.

Four illustrations in color by Herbert Pullinger
12mo. Decorated cloth, $1.50

An unusually fine tale of the adventures of three boys on a cruise in Great South Bay, on the south side of Long Island.

While the story is filled with exciting incidents, they are such as might reasonably happen to any set of boys while on an extended sailing trip. The book will surely appeal to the live boy, and afford him much solid enjoyment.

Lippincott's New Fall Novels

Bronson of the Rabble

By ALBERT E. HANCOCK

of Haverford College, Haverford, Pa., author of "Henry Bourland: The Passing of the Cavalier," "A Life of John Keats," etc.

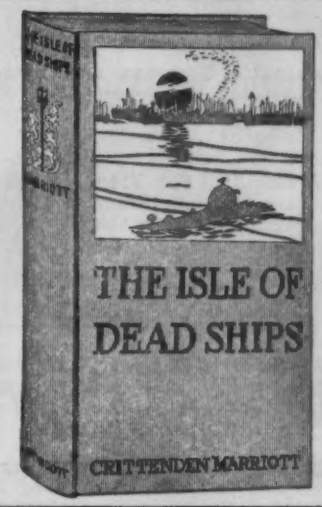
A vivid and dramatic romance of old Philadelphia between the years 1812 and the time of Andrew Jackson's inauguration, 1828, the period that intervenes between Dr. S. Weir Mitchell's "The Red City" and Winston Churchill's "Coniston." Mr. Hancock has endeavored to produce a representative American novel. The romantic element of the story deals with love as an enchantment and as an inspiration, and the play of dramatic passion passes through a complication that lifts a blacksmith's son into the natural dignity of a gentleman.

Frontispiece in color by Stanley M. Arthurs
12mo. Decorated cloth, $1.50

The Isle of Dead Ships

By CRITTENDEN MARRIOTT

Author of "The Man Who Was Buried."



In the direct path of every steamer sailing from the Gulf of Mexico to Europe lies a floating island known as the Sargasso Sea. No explorer has ever set foot on it, or, if one has, he has never returned to tell of what he saw.

Three shipwrecked passengers—a charming girl, an escaped prisoner, supposed to be the murderer of his wife, and a detective, who is returning to New York with his captive—are driven deep into this mysterious isle of dead ships, during a terrific storm. Here they come upon weird discoveries and wonderful adventures which form a tale of unusual fascination and never-flagging interest.

Illustrated in color and half tone
12mo. Cloth, $1 00 net

In Ambush

By MARIE VAN VORST

Author of "The Sin of George Warrener," "When Spring Comes Late," "The Master of Craven," "The Woman Who Toils," etc.

A striking novel of adventure, mystery, and romance with varied change of scene. The story opens in an Alaskan mining camp, then moves to Egypt, where a stirring battle between the British and the wild tribes of the Sudan is depicted, and finally returns to this country and Kentucky. Miss Van Vorst has done the unusual in making her hero a man with an unsavory past, but whose redemption and repentance are so sincere the sympathy and admiration of the reader are completely with him.

The Key of the Unknown

By ROSA N. CAREY

Author of "The Sunny Side of the Hill," "The Angel of Forgiveness," etc.

Miss Carey writes for a most critical public—that of young girls just budding into womanhood. In this new volume she maintains her charm of expression, her refreshing and invigorating action, her delightful and lovable characters, and her skill in bringing an admirable story to a pleasing close.

NEW ILLUSTRATED VOLUMES BY ARTHUR RACKHAM

TALES FROM SHAKESPEARE

By CHARLES and MARY LAMB

GULLIVER'S TRAVELS

By JONATHAN SWIFT

Each volume with 12 full page illustrations in color, also many illustrative head-and-tail-pieces throughout, special decorative end-papers and rich cover designs, all by ARTHUR RACKHAM. Each volume, cloth, 8vo, top uncut, net $2.50.

Few artists have taken such a hold on popular appreciation as Arthur Rackham and deservedly so, for few artists have shown rare poetic imagination so essential to a just interpretation of the great classics. Mr. Rackham's artistic versatility has created beautiful editions of these two books and the handsome reproductions of the colored drawings are worthy of the originals.

A New Boys' Book of Adventure by EVERETT McNEIL, Author of "In Texas With Davy Crockett," etc.

WITH KIT CARSON IN THE ROCKIES

A TALE OF THE BEAVER COUNTRY. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

Tales of Our Pacific North-West Coast

CAPTAIN PETE OF PUGET SOUND

CAPTAIN PETE OF CORTESANA

By JAMES COOPER WHEELER

Author of "There She Blows!" etc.

Each volume illustrated, 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Stories of a comradeship between two boys—one bred with the instinct of the woodsman in every fibre and the other a city youth, complementing his friend's abilities with the tact and culture of the educated city boy.

The stories deal with the island-dotted bays of the Washington coast, where the hero, through his clever woodmanship, makes a name for himself in securing the arrest and dispersal of a band of smugglers that infested that region. Realistic tales of adventure with the atmosphere of the great Northwest permeating every page.

A Book of Delight for Younger Readers

CAN YOU BELIEVE THE STORIES

By ALICIA ASPINWALL

New and Prominent Publications from Dutton's Fall List

THE ROMANTIC MOVEMENT IN ENGLISH POETRY

By ARTHUR SYMONS

1 vol. 8vo, viii. + 340 pp., net $2.50.

The position of Mr. Arthur Symons as a critic and interpreter, both in literature and art, has been advancing steadily for a number of years; he now stands so high that the simultaneous appearance of a new book by him and the reissue of an old one is of more than passing interest to the literary world.

The Romantic Movement is an important contribution to the history of literature, a brilliant piece of critical exposition of a hitherto neglected field. It is a candid, stimulating and sympathetic body of criticism of the personality and art of the writers reviewed rather than a biographical review of the period.

THREE NOVELS OF ORIGINALITY AND POWER

THE SCORE

By LUCAS MALET

12mo, cloth, tinted top, $1.50.

Since "Sir Richard Calmady," lovers of serious fiction have waited eagerly for work from "Lucas Malet." She has produced at last exactly what her many admirers hoped for—a story as strong as the one which made her reputation, but more pleasing in its theme and characters. Miss St. John, the celebrated comedienne, and her friends, the playwright and the politician, are the most interesting trio which have appeared in the year's fiction.

THERE SHE BLOWS!

A Whaling Yarn

By JAMES COOPER WHEELER

With colored frontispiece and other illustrations. 12mo, cloth, net $1.20.

A first-rate adventure story about old whaling days, which will challenge comparison with Bullen's "Cruise of the Cachalot," "Herman Melville's "Typee," or any other well-known and genuine story of sea experience. The record of actual life on a whaler in the days before the use of petroleum for illuminating purposes and the disappearance of the whales had taken the life out of the whaling industry.

Undoubtedly the best book of real adventure published this year.

THE SHADOW OF THE CATHEDRAL

By VINCENT BLASCO IBANEZ

Frontispiece. 12mo, net $1.35.

A picturesque and powerful presentation of the mental and social decadence of Spain of to-day.

The magnificent cathedral of Toledo with its bigoted and arrogant yet poverty-stricken crowd of ecclesiastics; its treasures and traditions hidden away under dust and ignorance, its wealth of art and architecture closed to the world at large,—is taken as a type and symbol of the nation, and made by the author the background for the story of the hero, a noble idealist, who, educated for the priesthood, gives up his faith and becomes a revolutionary, and after strife, prison and torture, spends the evening of his days among his boyhood's friends under the shadow of the cathedral—at last giving up his life in its defence.

A vivid human drama, written with profound knowledge and intense conviction, which has already been translated into every other European language of importance and given its author an international fame.

Announcements of New Fall Books

PUBLISHED BY

A. C. McCLURG & CO.

New York CHICAGO San Francisco

Fiction

My Lady of the South

By RANDALL PARRISH

A Story of the Civil War

With four illustrations in full color by Alonzo Kimball. Crown 8vo

Mr. Parrish's new story will immediately remind the reader of "My Lady of the North," which was probably the most popular of all the popular romances from this prolific pen. It is safe to say that no better war story has appeared in a long time. The book is beautifully illustrated. (October 2) $1.50

The Homesteaders

By KATE AND VIRGIL D. BOYLES

With four illustrations in color by Maynard Dixon. Crown 8vo

A story of the free-range cattle country in which two homesteaders—one a young woman—fight for possession with a band of desperate "rustlers." It is no less strong than the former book of these authors, "Langford of the Three Bars," which met with a decided success. (Ready) $1.50

The Dominant Dollar

By WILL LILLIBRIDGE

With four illustrations in color by Lester Ralph. Crown 8vo

This is the last story written by Mr. Lillibridge before his death. It is a vivid and dramatic Western story which approaches the problem of the man and the dollar from a distinctly new viewpoint. Mr. Lillibridge's great success was "Ben Blair," which has reached a sale of over 60,000 copies. (Ready) $1.50

The Yellow Circle

By CHARLES E. WALK

With four illustrations in color by Will Grefé. Crown 8vo

An exciting mystery story by the author of "The Silver Blade." The scene opens with a fashionable wedding in a fashionable church; the auditorium is filled with guests, and at the moment the ceremony begins, a strange man forces his way through the attendants, thrusts a bracelet into the bride's hand, whispers something into her ear, and hastily disappears. For a moment the bride is horror-stricken, then she picks up her train and flees in a panic of terror. That is the last seen of her—until the last chapter. The action covers a period of only four days. The mystery stimulates interest to the end. (Ready) $1.50

A Volunteer with Pike

By ROBERT AMES BENNET

With four illustrations in color by Charlotte Weber-Ditzler. Crown 8vo

The true narrative of one Dr. John Robinson and of his love for the fair Senorita Valois. A tale of the days of Thomas Jefferson, wherein the brave Dr. John and his Spanish sweetheart are led through dramatic scenes of social gayety at the Capital, distress on the wild frontier, and final impressment aboard a man-of-war. The romantic personages of Aaron Burr and Zebulon Pike, the famous conspiracy of the former and the discovery of Pike's Peak by the latter, form a vital part of the plot. (October 2) $1.50

A Castle of Dreams

By NETTA SYRETT

With frontispiece by W. J. Enright. 12mo

A pretty Irish story by the author of "The Day's Journey," whose charm it reproduces, but whose popularity, says one reviewer, it will outdistance twenty times. It is much in the vein of Miss Tynan's well-known stories of Irish life. (Ready) $1.25

A. C. McCLURG & CO.'S NEW FALL BOOKS

FICTION—Continued

The Master of Life

By W. D. LIGHTHALL

Illustrated. 12mo

"The Master of Life" is the god of the Iroquois Indians who dwelt beneath the waters of the St. Lawrence River and whose inspiration led Hiawatha to found the famous league of the Five Nations. The Indians of the story are town builders, lovers of peace for the most part, imbued with a deep poetic strain, and worshippers of nature. The story is full of vigorous action, and may be described as a romance of the Iroquois soul. (Ready) $1.50

The Woman and the Sword

By RUPERT LORRAINE

Cloth bound, frontispiece in full color. 12mo

The tale concerns one Gilbert Charrington, late a captain fighting for the Protestant cause in the Thirty Years' War, who comes back to England only to find new perils in outwitting the abductors of Mistress Hilary Page. The historic background fully justifies the thrilling situations in which the book abounds. (Ready) 75 cents

Travel and Description

Ships and Sailors of Old Salem

By RALPH D. PAINE

Profusely Illustrated. Large 8vo.

This is a worthy record of a brilliant era of American achievement when, in the days between the Revolution and 1812, American clippers from Salem and other Atlantic seaports swept the world in search of trade and defied alike British warships and the pirates of all waters. Their exploits are here gathered from their original logs and other first-hand sources. (October) Net $3.50

The Conquest of the Missouri

By JOSEPH MILLS HANSON

Cloth. Profusely illustrated. Crown 8vo

Captain Grant Marsh, who brought the news of Custer's destruction to the outer world by his steamer the "Far West," which played so important a part in the Little Big Horn campaign, is the living hero of "The Conquest of the Missouri." Captain Marsh first shipped on a Missouri packet in 1854, and still plies on the river. The services he rendered to the United States Government in its various campaigns were notable, and with his other exploits have enabled his biographer to write a book that combines the authority, accuracy, and fullness of a history of America's most important internal advance with the adventurous story of a brave man's career on the old-time river packets. (November) Net $2.00

Pictorial Log of the Battle Fleet Cruise around the World

By ROMAN J. MILLER

Oblong folio, 9 x 12 inches, nearly 500 pictures, bound in canvas

This "Log" is a complete record of the great cruise of the Fleet. It is kept day by day following the Fleet's progress, and is illustrated in a unique way from wonderfully interesting photographs. This beautiful volume should find a place in every patriotic home. (Ready) Net $3.00

Motoring in the Balkans

By FRANCES KINSLEY HUTCHINSON

With over 100 illustrations. Large 8vo

A vivacious account of the recent journey of a motoring party through a little known portion of Europe. The route lay from Trieste, through Dalmatia, touching Montenegro and other countries of the Western Balkans. The volume is profusely illustrated from photographs, and an itinerary adds to the value of the work, which is planned for practical use as well as entertainment. Mrs. Hutchinson will be remembered as the author of a charming work called "Our Country Home." (Ready) Net $2.75

The Bretons at Home

By FRANCES M. GOSTLING

With over 40 illustrations, 12 in color. Large 8vo

The author of this work is already known as the translator of "The Land of Pardons." In "The Bretons at Home," a most sympathetic account is given of the people and their life, of their quaint customs and interesting history. Anatole Le Braz contributes an Introduction. (Ready) Net $2.50

TRAVEL AND DESCRIPTION—Continued

Letters from France and Italy

By ARTHUR GUTHRIE ("Anthony Rowley")

With over 40 dainty illustrations. 12mo

Although it is an old, familiar journey that is described—Paris, Pisa, Rome, Perugia, Assisi, Florence, Siena, Milan—the author has invested it with such a fresh interest, by means of his charming personality and keen sense of humor, that it can not fail to attract even the most casual reader. (Ready) Net $1.25

The Romance of Northumberland

By A. G. BRADLEY

With 16 illustrations in color and 12 other plates. Large 8vo

This volume is the outcome of some months of leisurely wandering through the most interesting portions of Northumberland. It is a wonderfully entertaining and romantic description of the country so renowned in border song and story. (Ready) Net $2.75

Biographical and Historical

Diary of James K. Polk

Three volumes, each with frontispiece. Large 8vo

This is a world-for-word reprint of the original MS. now in the possession of the Chicago Historical Society. It has never before been published. As an historical document it is of the greatest interest and importance. (November) Net $15.00

Something of Men I Have Known

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

Fully illustrated. Large 8vo

Mr. Stevenson's long public career has given him a wide acquaintance with men of national and international fame, and he writes charmingly and intimately of these political and professional associates. His observations are keen and his book is a distinct addition to reminiscential literature. (October) Net $2.75

Stephen A. Douglas

By CLARK E. CARR

His Life, Public Services, Patriotism, and Speeches

Illustrated. Crown 8vo

This is the most searching and analytic review of Douglas' career ever written, and no man is better equipped to do it than Colonel Carr. "The Little Giant" is placed in a new light, and his greatness is emphasized in the most illuminating manner. An appendix gives some of Douglas' greatest speeches. (October) Net $1.75

The Lincoln Centenary

Illustrated. Large 8vo

This volume contains the principal speeches and accounts of the most notable Lincoln Memorial exercises which occurred during Centenary week throughout the country. It is a valuable addition to Lincolniana. (October) Net $1.75

Cyrus Hall McCormick

By HERBERT N. CASSON

His Life and Work

With photogravure frontispiece and 25 other illustrations. 12mo

This is a remarkable life of the inventor of the Reaper. It is not a biography only, but a chapter as well in the development of American history. Cyrus McCormick emancipated the American farmer from the slavery of the soil and made him the master of the wheat instead of its servant, and Mr. Casson's account of the struggles by which this was accomplished will take its place as the record, not of a man's life merely, but of the greater part of a nation's. Mr. Casson is the author of "The Romance of Steel" and "The Romance of the Reaper." (November) Net $1.50

The Story of Isaac Brock

By WALTER R. NURSEY

With 22 illustrations, six in colors. 12mo

General Brock was a distinguished British officer who fell at the battle of Queenston, Canada, and whose monument on the heights of Queenston is seen every year by thousands of visitors to Niagara Falls. (Ready) Net $1.50

Carlyle's "Frederick the Great"

Abridged by EDGAR SANDERSON

(In One Volume.)

With portraits. 8vo

Mr. Sanderson has accomplished the great feat of compressing the five huge royal octavo tomes of Carlyle into a single volume. He has cleared away the vast amount of extraneous matter that surrounded Frederick, and gives us the portrait of the soldier-king in Carlyle's own picturesque words. (Ready) Net $1.50

A. C. McCLURG & CO.'S NEW FALL BOOKS

General

Men and Manners of Old Florence

By DR. GUIDO BIAGI

With 50 illustrations. Large 8vo

Dr. Biagi here sketches the social life of Florence from the thirteenth to the beginning of the nineteenth century—the days when Florence "had an individual life and character of her own and her native manners and customs had not yet been submerged." The work is founded upon entirely new material and documents never hitherto used. Dr. Biagi is the well-known librarian of the Laurentian Library, Florence. (October 9) Net $3.50

Shakespeare's Love Story

By ANNA B. McMAHAN

With 25 illustrations. Large 8vo

The author of "Shakespeare's Christmas Gift to Queen Bess" here presents in Holiday dress an idyllic picture of Shakespeare the lover. The sonnets, a number of which are introduced, are treated not alone as compositions fashionable in their time, but as lines addressed to a beloved maiden—the fair Ann Hathaway. The volume is beautifully printed and bound, and forms a most attractive Holiday gift-book. (October 9) Net $2.50

Essays and Addresses

By EDWIN BURRITT SMITH

With frontispiece portrait. Large 8vo

This volume has been prepared as a memorial by a committee of friends of Mr. Smith who feel that the speeches and papers of this stanch advocate of the cause of civic righteousness are worthy of permanent form. The papers deal with municipal conditions in Chicago, Anti-Imperialism and the perversion of the fundamental teachings of the founders of the United States, and some essays of a literary and personal nature are included. (Ready) Net $2.50

The Standard Concert Repertory

By GEORGE P. UPTON

Illustrated with numerous portraits. Indexed. 12mo

"The Standard Concert Repertory" completes the series of musical reference books from Mr. Upton's pen, the previous titles being "The Standard Operas" and the "Standard Concert Guide." Overtures and suites constitute the larger part of concert programmes, and the study of them is both instructive and entertaining. Uniform with the other volumes of this series. (Ready) $1.75

Little Books on Art

Edited by CYRIL DAVENPORT

New volumes:

Each with about 40 illustrations. Square 18mo

THE ARTS OF JAPAN, by Edward Dillon.
ILLUMINATED MSS., by John W. Bradley.
These dainty books have a special appeal to all persons of artistic tastes. Four volumes previously issued, "Jewelry," "Enamels," "Miniatures," and "Bookplates," have found wide sale. (Ready) Per volume, net $1.00

A Mother's List of Books for Children

By GERTRUDE WELD ARNOLD

16mo

The little volume presents a list of the best books for children, classified, first, as to age, from two to fourteen years, and second, as to subject-matter—picture books, poetry, mythology, folk-lore, fairy tales, religion and ethics, travel, description, science and out-of-door books, history, biography, etc. Besides the authors, publishers and prices are given, and under each title is a brief descriptive paragraph. (Ready) Net $1.00

Making the Best of Our Children

By MARY WOOD ALLEN, M.D.

Two volumes. 16mo

This is a new presentation of child study in which right and wrong methods of training are illustrated. Beginning with a baby of six months, the author gives instances of right and wrong methods on the part of parents, carrying the problems on up to sixteen years of age. The first volume is concerned with younger children, the second with older. (October 9) Each, net $1.00

Novelties

The Up-to-Date Sandwich Book

By EVA GREEN FULLER

420 Ways to Make a Sandwich

Boards. Square 16mo Beginning with directions for obtaining the proper kind of bread, this work covers the whole subject of sandwiches and canapes. In all, over four hundred recipes are given, which include sandwiches of meat, fish, eggs, cheese, nuts, salads, and sweets, and nearly twenty miscellaneous recipes for canapes. The recipes range from the familiar "hot roast beef" to the most delicious and unusual "creations," and all occasions, from the hunger-inducing picnic to the daintiest afternoon teas, are provided for. The book is uniquely printed and bound, and forms a pretty gift-book as well as a practical one. (October 2) Net $1.00

Dame Curtsey's Book of Recipes

By ELLYE HOWELL GLOVER

With frontispiece. Square 16mo This little book is as sprightly and novel as the two previous "Dame Curtsey" books—"Novel Entertainments" and "Book of Guessing Contests"—and the general make-up is the same. Some of the chapters are: Setting the Table, Recipes for Breakfasts, Luncheons and Dinners, Afternoon Teas and Receptions, Refreshments for Parties, Chafing Dish Rules and Recipes, Menus, Desserts, For the Invalid, Candies, Cakes and Cookies, Summer Drinks, etc. (October 2) Net $1.00

Dame Curtsey's Book of Etiquette

By ELLYE HOWELL GLOVER

Illustrated. Square 16mo Gives all the latest decrees on points of Etiquette. Chapters are: Introductions; Calls and Cards; Invitations for Breakfasts, Luncheons, Dinners, Receptions, Balls, Musicales; "At Homes"; Engagement Announcements; Weddings; Christenings; Children's Parties; Outdoor Entertainments; Table Manners; Funerals; Correspondence and Stationery; Traveling Etiquette; Week-End Parties; Wedding Anniversaries. (October 2) Net 50 cents

Toasts and Table Sentiments

Compiled by WALLACE RICE

Decorated in colors, novelty binding. Square 16mo A new collection of Toasts, which contains a great many that can not be found elsewhere, and also of sentiments appropriate for dinner gatherings. Uniform in size and general style with "Catchwords of Friendship," and forms an attractive novelty. (October 2) Net 50 cents

Catchwords of Worldly Wisdom

A Little Book of Epigrams, Wise and Witty

Quaintly illustrated, decorated in colors. Square 16mo This is an unusually attractive booklet which should have a wide sale. It is daintily printed and illustrated, and forms a novel gift-book. (October 2) Net 75 cents

The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam

Translated by EDWARD FITZGERALD

Decorated in colors. Novelty binding. Square 16mo However good new translations may be, many people still prefer the old standard rendering of Fitzgerald. My Chums in Caricature

By HERSCHEL WILLIAMS

A Burlesque Gallery

Boards. Square 16mo A very novel little book offering much amusement. It contains a series of quotations, with blank spaces for securing the autographs of friends and pasting in caricatures taken from comic sources. The combinations that can be made up are very amusing. (October 2) Net 50 cents

A. C. McCLURG & CO.'S NEW FALL BOOKS

Juvenile

Donkey John of the Toy Valley — By MARGARET W. MORLEY

Illustrated. 12mo

This is a charming tale of the wooden-toy makers in a famous Austrian valley. The illustrations are reproduced from a collection of these quaintly carved toys and are unique. (Ready) $1.25

The House on the North Shore — By MARION FOSTER WASHBURNE

With five illustrations by Maginel Wright Enright. 12mo

A story for young men and girls, which will also be read with keen interest by thoughtful fathers and mothers who desire to catch glimpses of the minds and purposes of growing young people. The attitude of the book is thoroughly modern and wholesome. (Ready) $1.25

The Child You Used to Be — By LEONORA PEASE

With 12 pictures by Lucy Fitch Perkins. Square 8vo

A quaintly humorous book of experiences common to all. The illustrations are in Mrs. Perkins's happiest style, which has won for this artist a wide reputation as an interpreter of womanhood and childhood. (Ready) $1.50

The Short-Stop — By ZANE GREY

With six illustrations by H. S. DeLay. 12mo

Written in a spirit and with a knowledge of baseball that will appeal at once to the healthy American boy and girl. Dr. Grey has himself played professional ball, and knows the life he describes. (Ready) $1.25

The Silver Canoe — By HENRY GARDNER HUNTING

The Story of a Secret that had to be Kept

Illustrated by H. S. DeLay 12mo

This is a good healthy story for boys, and for girls, too. All the characters are employed in a big metropolitan department store, and the story hinges around the solution of a rebus contest, in which there is some attempt at cheating, which is met by the honesty of two of the contestants. (Ready) $1.25

Around the World with the Battleships — By ROMAN J. MILLER

With introductory note by James B. Connolly. Illustrated. 12mo

Mr. Miller is an enlisted man in the United States Navy, who, after five years' service, is now, at the age of twenty-five, a chief turret captain. He accompanied the Battleship Fleet on its voyage around the world, and in this work he tells with naive spontaneity and simple directness all that impressed him on the way. The fact that this book is written by an enlisted man is itself high tribute to the navy's personnel. By boys especially will this work be enjoyed, although it holds a patriotic appeal to every one. (Ready) $1.25

Sure-Dart — By FREDERICK B. COSTELLO

A Story of Strange Hunters and Stranger Game in the Days of Monsters

With five illustrations by Walter J. Enright. 12mo

A fine, spirited tale of conflict in which the characters are our remote ancestors pitted against the huge and curious animals which roamed prehistoric fields and forests. It is the book for boys who are fond of stories of action and adventure, and one which teaches wholesome truths of fighting, not to destroy merely, but to gain peace and safety. The monsters which fill its thrilling pages are accurately described from the remains discovered and restored by scientists. Mr. Costello is an experienced writer. (Ready) $1.25

JUVENILE—Continued

Billy Tomorrow

By SARAH PRATT CARR

With 8 illustrations by Charles M. Relyea. 12mo

This is a splendid boy's story, the scene of which is laid in California, soon after the San Francisco disaster. Billy is a healthy, hearty, mischievous, popular, none-too-fond-of-work youngster with a widowed mother and an elder sister who support themselves and him. Into their life comes a small, delicately nurtured girl, and she and the realizing knowledge of what his mother and sister were doing for him make a man of him. Mrs. Carr is the author of "The Iron Way." (Ready) $1.25

A Boy's Ride

By GULIELMA ZOLLINGER

With 16 illustrations by Fanny M. Chambers. Crown 8vo

The scene of this fine boy's story is laid in England in the time of King John. It presents a stirring picture of life in those mediæval days. Examples of courage and fidelity are skilfully drawn, and from the lips of one character are taught lessons in sobriety, which the young readers will rightly interpret for themselves. By the author of "The Widow O'Callaghan's Boys." (Ready) $1.50

Maggie McLanehan

By GULIELMA ZOLLINGER

Holiday Edition

With 12 illustrations by Florence Scovel Shinn. Cr. 8vo

An entirely new edition of this successful juvenile story by the author of "The Widow O'Callaghan's Boys," illustrated in color, and uniform in style with the "Holiday" edition of that famous book. (Ready) $1.50

"Chet"

By KATHERINE M. YATES

Illustrated by H. S. DeLay. 12mo

This is a new story by the well-known author of many successful little books which have been widely read by older people as well as by the young people for whom, more particularly, they are written. "Chet" is a virile, fun-loving boy who learns much from a girl companion whose own travelling adventures, told him in letters, add to the humor of the story. The threatened intrusion of a third person into their circle, and the spirit in which they meet it, bring out the author's philosophy of life. (Ready) $1.25

Also by Mrs. Yates.

Messrs. A. C. McClurg & Co. have arranged with Mrs. Yates for the publication over their imprint of her successful books for children, which have attained a sale of over one hundred thousand copies. The titles are:

All daintily printed and bound. 12mo

A Great Fall List

The following is beyond any doubt the best list of books ever issued by us within a single season. In addition to the excellent books by new writers, we take pleasure in announcing new titles by such well-known authors as Rudyard Kipling, Meredith Nicholson, C. N. and A. M. Williamson, E. F. Benson, Myra Kelly, Will Irwin, Grace S. Richmond, E. Nesbit, Mary Stewart Cutting, Josef Hofmann, W. S. Rainsford, Lincoln Steffens, Gouverneur Morris, Ellis Parker Butler, Henry Van Dyke, Luther H. Gulick, Henry D. Lloyd, George Fitch, Booker T. Washington, F. Berkeley Smith, Irving Bacheller, Maurice Leblanc, Charles Battell Loomis, A. R. Dugmore, Josephine Daskam Bacon, Miriam Michelson and Neltje Blanchan.

FICTION

Actions and Reactions

By Rudyard Kipling. This new volume by Mr. Kipling is of the utmost importance and interest, being the author's first collection of tales since the Nobel prize was awarded to him for "the most distinguished work in the field of idealistic tendency." Price, $1.50.

In the Border Country

By Josephine Daskam Bacon. Mrs. Bacon conveys a reassuring and uplifting message to harassed and wearied womankind in the three "fairy tales" that make up this volume. The stories throb with sympathy — they are beautiful idyls of understanding. Illustrated and decorated by Clara Peck. Fixed price, $1.00.

The Leopard and the Lily

By Marjorie Bowen. A tale of breathless adventure, of grim lawlessness and unbridled passion — in those wild mediæval times in which the author laid her magnificent novel of "The Viper of Milan." A most beautiful and proud woman, loving one man but betrothed to the Prince, his best friend; an English gentleman adventurer; 'La Rose Rouge," the embodiment of all that was fierce and crafty and brutal in the Middle-Age nobleman — these are the three main actors in this tense and swift-moving drama. Fixed price, $1.20.

The Thin Santa Claus

By Ellis Parker Butler. A lively tale of Mrs. Gratz's discovery of $900 in her chicken coop. Mr. Butler's bit of Christmas nonsense is thoroughly characteristic of the author of "Pigs is Pigs," and well calculated to strike the reader's humorous fancy as powerfully as its celebrated forerunner. Illustrations by May Wilson Preston. Price, 50 cents.

The Lords of High Decision

By Meredith Nicholson. A romance of Pittsburg of to-day and the author's most ambitious work. Wayne Craighill is the son of a prominent and wealthy family, who is introduced to the reader at the strategic moment of his career. In Jean Morley the reader will find a new and lovable type of American girl — a child of the anthracite country, with high ideals and ambitions. The plot is intense, the movement direct and dramatic. Four illustrations by A. I. Keller. Price, $1.50.

The Master

By Irving Bacheller. A stirring tale of a young man in quest of a fortune which awaits him in the hands of a missing uncle. The scene of the story moves from semi-Bohemian life of New York to the deck of an old schooner and a camp in the wilderness. Fixed price, $1.20.

The Big Strike at Siwash

By George Fitch. There never was another full-back like Ole Skjarsen, six feet six, two hundred and twenty in his Adam's skin, and built like a bull and a pile-driver and a thirteen-inch projectile all in one. Coach Most picked him up in the Wisconsin woods somewhere and persuaded him that a college education at Siwash would increase his lumber output 100 per cent. His subsequent college "education" makes one of the most rousingly funny stories that have ever appeared, and one which will live in football history. Illustrations by May Wilson Preston and Frank Crerie. Price, 50 cents.

The Half Moon

By Ford Madox Hueffer. This story will remain one of the noteworthy tributes to the great Tercentenary Celebration. The narrative of the early days in Holland, the voyage and the discovery, brims with fascinating incident; in fact, as a carefully wrought, well-balanced, entertaining work of fiction the book invites comparison with the best historical novel of the past decade. Fixed price, $1.35.

Putting on the Screws

By Gouverneur Morris. This story tells of an ordinary, plain business man, struggling along to make ends meet for his wife and family, but never showing the strain or losing his sense of human sympathy. The tale is founded on one of those fundamental triumphs of human nature over itself which make any reader's heart feel warm. Illustrated in color. Fixed price, 50 cents.

Just for Two

By Mary Stewart Cutting. Throughout the five stories of love and courtship that make up Mrs. Cutting's new book, there radiate those qualities of tender, heart-warming humanity and lifelike realism that are so characteristic of the author's "Little Stories of Married Life," and "The Wayfarers." Four illustrations. Fixed price, $1.00.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

A Court of Inquiry

By GRACE S. RICHMOND. This is a charming story of a group of girl and men friends and the effect of their pairing off upon the narrator and her "Philosopher." One sees these charming groups through the eyes of the one who tells the tale — and very shrewd and delightful eyes they are, seeing life in its true perspective with much real philosophy and true feeling. Mrs. Richmond has never written anything more fresh and human and entertaining. Eight illustrations by Charles M. Relyea. Fixed price, $1.00

The Lady of Big Shanty

By F. BERKELEY SMITH. Mr. Smith (the son of the famous novelist) has been steadily making a reputation as a writer of shrewd and entertaining books of description and travel. This is his first novel, and its outdoor feeling and its fine portrayal of human nature in the great city and the North Woods display a power and an insight that are most remarkable. Fixed price, $1.20.

Warrior, The Untamed

By WILL IRWIN. If the police had interfered, as planned, old Warrior, the harmless "man-eating" lion of Paradise Park, would never have made the balloon ascension as per the press agent's schedule. But the police, as usual, weren't around, and as soon as the terrified lion returned to earth, he broke from the net and made straight for the open country. The tale is uproariously funny. Four illustrations by Gruger. Price 50 cents.

Arsène Lupin

Novelized by EDGAR JEPSON from the Drama by MAURICE LEBLANC. Mr. Leblanc's famous creation is a sort of modern Robin Hood of the city; he preys only upon the rich; he is inexhaustible in resources, brilliant, elusive, mysterious — and has, withal, a sense of humor that is a delightful contrast to most detective tales. We predict that Arsène Lupin will soon be a household word among the reading homes of the United States. Illustrated. Price, $1.50.

The Golden Season

By MYRA KELLY. Myra Kelly's unfailing vein of sprightly humor has full play in this delightful tale of the escapades of Elizabeth and her chum in a coeducational college. Illustrated. Fixed price, $1.20.

A Reaping

By E. F. BENSON. Mr. Benson here hangs upon a thread of story a series of idyllic essays, each chapter covering a particular month of the year. The book shows admirably the cultivation, the love for music, the humor and light touch that characterize the author's writings; and it is a volume which will repay a second and a third reading. Fixed price, $1.25.

Little Maude and Her Mamma

By CHARLES BATTELL LOOMIS. Little Maude has been called a classic. Just what a classic is may be hard to define, but when a story has pleased millions of English-speaking people all over the world, it must have elements of nonsense or felicity or pure foolishness that are likely to elevate it to the classic class. "Little Maude" has been tried and not found wanting. "Mr. Loomis's place among American humorists is near the top, but he possesses another quality not often found in humorists. He has a warm and tender sympathy."—San Francisco Call. Four illustrations by the author. Price, 50 cents

Daphne in Fitzroy Street

By E. NESBIT. It would be hard to find a more delightful picture of fresh young girlhood than Daphne, leader of the escapades in the French boarding-school. Her romantic adventures make a moving love story of distinction, humor and unusual appeal. Frontispiece in color. Fixed price, $1.20.

The Marquis of Loveland

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON. Frankly, the Marquis is at the outset a good bit of an unlicked cub, and he entertains not the slightest doubt that all the rich mothers in America will fall over each other to secure him and his title. But privations effect a decided change in character, and the tale ends with one of the most delightful romances that have ever found place in a Williamson story. "The Marquis of Loveland" is a worthy successor to "Lady Betty." Illustrations. Price $1.50.

At the Foot of the Rainbow

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER. A charming outdoor romance of devoted friendship — the friendship which gives freely without return, and the love which seeks first the happiness of its object. New edition. Illustrated in color by Oliver Kemp. Price, $1.50.

A Girl of the Limberlost

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER. This companion story to "Freckles" is sure to repeat the striking success of that book which, published nearly five years ago, has steadily increased its tens of thousands of readers year by year. It is an exquisitely simple love-story which stands for true womanhood as did "Freckles" for pure manhood. It breathes a message of compassion and strength. Four illustrations in color by Benda. Price, $1.50.

The Southerner

By NICHOLAS WORTH. Being an autobiographical tale of life in a Southern state since the Civil War. A novel full of real history, of adventure, of romance, of many dramatic events and contrasts, and of triumph. It gives a view of Southern life and progress hitherto neglected in fiction — the buoyant, constructive, successful, hopeful struggle of the men since the War. Fixed price, $1.20.

OUTDOOR BOOKS

The American Flower Garden

By NELTJE BLANCHAN. There has been needed an authoritative work covering the American Garden as that famous work by William Robinson describes the English Garden. The present book is the "final authority" and covers adequately the needs of the amateur whose garden is either extensive or the reverse; and every fact among the thousands is made quickly available by a fourteen-page index. There are four plates in full color, and eighty plates of sufficient size adequately to treat the subjects presented. With planting lists by Leonard Barron. Regular edition. Net price, $5.00.

House Plants

By PARKER THAYER BARNES. A manual of the best plants for house cultivation and indoor decoration, giving foliage and flowers all summer and winter; their raising from seed and home propagation. Illustrated. Net price, $1.10.

Flowerless Plants

By ELIZABETH H. HALE. The purpose of this book is threefold: (1)To interest children in flowerless plants and to lead them to a desire for further knowledge. (2) To present a few facts in such a way as to enable the reader to discover for himself others equally interesting. (3) To aid those who have found it difficult to obtain information on this subject without a tedious search through volumes not easily procured. More than 100 illustrations in color, half-tone, and line. Net price, 75 cents.

The Garden Week by Week

By WALTER P. WRIGHT. This practical handbook, imported from England, by the author of "The Perfect Garden," covers the gardening operations for every week in the year. It is a handy guide to the culture of the important flowers, vegetables, and fruits — outdoors and in greenhouses and cold frames. Net price, $2.00.

133 EAST 16th STREET, NEW YORK

Guide to Taxidermy

By CHARLES K. REED and CHESTER A. REED. The straightforward aim of this book is to enable the reader to gain complete mastery of the art of Taxidermy. To this end the experience of thirty-five years in all branches of the art has been called upon, and the authors have held back no secrets; everything is laid bare. Each operation besides being exhaustively described is illustrated by a detail drawing. Very fully illustrated. Net price, $1.50.

Camera Adventures in the Jungle

By A. RADCLYFFE DUGMORE. Mr. Dugmore has for years stood alone as a nature photographer, and to him is due much of the recent progress in pictures of wild animals. He has been in East Africa for some months (the outcome of years of planning) securing the same lifelike pictures of lions, rhinoceroses, giraffes and other African animals that he has published of moose, deer, caribou, and other American big game. His success has been notable, and the story of his adventures, with the marvelous pictures, makes a book that presents the heart of African wild life to the reader vividly and intimately. Over 100 illustrations from photographs from life, by the author. Net price, $5.00.

Nature Calendars for 1910

These are ideal calendars for the many thousands of nature lovers whose ranks are growing so rapidly. There is a colored plate of a bird or flower, suitable to the particular season for each month in the year, together with a description of the species represented. Size, over all, 10 x 14; heavy green mounts; gold stamping, 12 color plates on each. Each, $1.50.

Sherwood Forest

By JOSEPH RODGERS. With fine sympathy and full appreciation for the poetic past of Sherwood Forest, Mr. Rodgers describes the most famous of the oaks and the historical and sentimental interest that is attached to them; and deals in a fascinating style with the renowned families and characters of history — famous and infamous — and great figures in English literature, who have, at some time or other, dwelt within the borders of these majestic woods. Seven full-page photogravures, 42 full-page half-tones. Net price, $7.50.

Trees Every Child Should Know

By JULIA ELLEN ROGERS. "Trees Every Child Should Know" is written for children, by one who knows children as she knows trees. Very simply and interestingly the distinctive traits of each tree are set forth, so that a child can recognize the tree, and what's more — can tell how he knows it. Forty-eight illustrations. Net price, $1.20. In full and half-leather bindings. Net price, $2.00.

Goldfish—Aquaria—Ferneries

By CHESTER A. REED. To explain the best methods of stocking and maintaining aquariums of ornamental fish is the object of this invaluable little handbook, and the author writes with the delightfully intimate and informal touch of the enthusiastic amateur. There is also a chapter on the making and care of the plants, ferns and mosses for the fernery. Many original illustrations. Net price, 50 cents.

Bird Guide (Revised Edition)

These books are intended to take into the field with you, and are about the length and width of your hand. Nothing could be more compact and handy; no detail is omitted that is of importance or of unusual interest to the student. Every bird is shown in color, and every bird east of the Rockies is included. In two parts. Pocket size. Colored illustrations. Parts I and II bound in a single volume. Flexible leather. Net price, $1.75.
PART I: WATER AND GAMEBIRDS: BIRDS OF PREY. More than 200 illustrations in color. Flexible cloth. Net price, 75 cents. Flexible leather. Net price, $1.00.
PART II: LAND BIRDS EAST OF THE ROCKIES: FROM PARROTS TO BLUEBIRDS. Over 200 illustrations in color. Flexible cloth. Net price, 75 cents. Flexible leather. Net price $1.00.

The Poultry Book

The first comprehensive work on the subject in this country for amateur or professional alike. One great volume with 36 color plates, and 636 other pictures. New edition, complete in one volume. Net price, $5.00.

The Dog Book

A magnificent companion to the "Poultry Book," covering every phase of the dog in America, with full accounts of every prominent breed. 128 full-page pictures. New edition, complete in one volume. Net price, $5.00.

ECONOMICS

Upbuilders

By LINCOLN STEFFENS. This book (the antithesis of "muckraking") presents stories of five different ways in which five different men have fought for the rest of us in five widely separated parts of the United States. The volume is full of fight, full of romance and full of explicit suggestions as to ways and means of fighting for the right. Net price, $1.20.

The Story of the Negro

By BOOKER T. WASHINGTON. A positive, triumphant record of progress — the final work to date on the history of the Negro; for, beyond Dr. Washington, there is nobody in the world whose statements on the Negro in America carry more weight or more human interest. Illustrated. Uniform with "Up from Slavery." Two volumes. Net price, $3.00.

Men, the Workers

By HENRY DEMAREST LLOYD. Edited by Anne Withington and Caroline Stallbohm. Mr. Lloyd kept in close touch with the labor movement all over the world, and participated in more than one manifestation of its aims in America; and this is his final contribution to the labor question in America. It is a collection of essays and addresses on labor questions treated from the viewpoint of an intimate, as well as that of a social, philosopher. Frontispiece. Net price, $1.50.

TRAVEL

Yucatan

THE AMERICAN EGYPT, by CHANNING ARNOLD and FREDERICK J. FROST. A most lively and unconventional volume of observation and travel through the strangest corner of North America — that country of Yucatan where Central American civilization reached its height centuries ago, but which even President Diaz had never seen until a few years ago. It opens to the reader an unknown land at our doors. Many illustrations from photographs. Net price, $3.80.

The Land of the Lion

By W. S. RAINSFORD. Dr. Rainsford, formerly rector of St. George's Church, New York, spent a full year after game in Africa, during which time he walked more than four thousand miles. His graphic descriptions tell of the great game hunt as it is now in Africa. This book also contains many interesting studies and observations of African native life. It is generously illustrated with vivid photographs, taken, many of them, at close quarters. Illustrated from photographs. Net price, $3.80.

JUVENILE

The Book of Famous Sieges

By TUDOR JENKS. There are no events in history which are quite so fascinating to the average young reader as the famous sieges of the world, so full are they of thrilling incident, and countless examples of splendid courage and stout-hearted defense against terrible odds, and the most ingenious methods of attack and repulsion. Mr. Jenks describes the great sieges of the world with complete accuracy as to detail and with the skill and ability of the born story-teller to hold the reader's deep interest. Sixteen reproductions of old prints and famous paintings. Net price, $1.50.

Tales of Wonder

Edited by KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN and NORA ARCHIBALD SMITH. Here are fairy tales from the Persian, Japanese, Chinese, Gaelic, Scandinavian, Indian, Welsh, Russian and other and more familiar sources. But the distinctive feature of the volume lies in its departure from the beaten track. The greater part of the stories, we feel sure, will be read by most children for the first time. Fixed price, $1.50.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

BIOGRAPHY

Marie Antoinette

By HILAIRE BELLOC. Against a background of the history of the whole period covered by her life, not in Europe alone, but in America, Mr. Belloc has written, from the most modern viewpoint, a comprehensive study of the career of Marie Antoinette, the forming of her character, the causes and effects that culminated on the scaffold. Net price, $2.75.

Anatole France

By GEORGE BRANDES. As a study of one great critic by another equally distinguished, this little book is unique, but it will also be found a most valuable aid to those who wish to make a study of France, the man, and his work. Frontispiece portrait of Anatole France. Net price, 75 cents.

The Life of Mary Baker G. Eddy

AND THE HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE. By GEORGINE MILMINE. This is the first time that any reliable facts have been gathered together of the career of this remarkable woman and of the history of the movement which she inaugurated. The author carefully and impartially takes up this period of Mrs. Eddy's erratic youth, her years of invalidism, and her acquaintanceship with Quimby, and acquisition from him of the idea of the "Allness of Mind." Net price, $2.00

Melba

By AGNES C. MURPHY. Music-loving America will welcome the announcement of the first extended biography of Mme. Nellie Melba by her life-long friend and admirer, Miss Agnes C. Murphy, in the preparation of which Mme. Melba has given her enthusiastic cooperation, besides writing two chapters of her own for it. There is a wealth of illuminating anecdote and incident; and the volume is appropriately and brilliantly concluded by two chapters by Mme. Melba on "The Selection of Music as a Profession" and on "The Science of Singing." Many portraits and views of scenes described. Net, price $2.75.

Wendell Phillips

By LORENZO SEARS. Dr. Sears's brilliant biography sums up with distinction and authority the achievement of the great orator and reformer from the standpoint of the present day. The volume will prove of great value to students of oratory and of American History. Photographic frontispiece. Net price, $1.50.

HOLIDAY BOOKS

Grimm's Fairy Tales

Illustrated by ARTHUR RACKHAM. Mr. Rackham feels that this superb edition of Grimm is his highest achievement as a creative illustrator, for these tales have always appealed to him peculiarly. It is safe to say, in addition, that it will probably be long before any artist equals these superb embodiments of the old fairy tale characters familiar to every household. The book is a triumph in every way, and confirms anew Mr. Rackham's preëminence in this line of work. Size, 10 x 12, with about 50 illustrations in color. Net price, $6.00. Extra Edition de luxe, limited to 100 copies. Net price, $10.00.

Undine

Illustrated by ARTHUR RACKHAM. This is a new translation by W. L. Courtenay of Fonqué's famous classic, which will be a hundred years old year after next. The water-sprite gaining her soul through marriage to a mortal is the kind of fanciful subject which gives Mr Rackham's imagination full sweep, and this volume will doubtless take its place as the standard edition of this classic with all who care for a beautiful book at a low price. Edition de luxe. Many illustrations in color and black and white. Net price, $2.00

Piano Questions Answered

By JOSEF HOFMANN. These 250 replies to definite queries are exceedingly suggestive, since they cover just the points which the average student wants to know and which no book can anticipate. The result is a most human, stimulating, and helpful series of little talks on all sorts of piano topics, so that the reader almost feels as if he had been present at an informal meeting of a lot of enthusiastic pupils with the famous virtuoso. Net price, 75 cents.

VERSE

The Song of the English

By RUDYARD KIPLING. For this well-known poem, which is a typical example of Mr. Kipling's superb rendering of heroic and national thought in verse, Mr. W. Heath Robinson has prepared a magnificent series of illustrations. There are thirty full pages in color, ten full pages in black and white, and pen decorations on every page. Orders will be taken in advance as the edition is limited to one thousand copies. Illustrated by W. Heath Robinson. Size about 10 x 12. Net price, $5.00.

David

By CALE YOUNG RICE. Mr. Rice, in this poetic drama on a biblical subject, shows the great mastery of the music of verse, and the greater strength in the delineation of character, that have caused his work to be considered in many respects superior to the dramas of Stephen Phillips. The present volume contains a very powerful presentation of the incidents of David's life. Net price, $1.25.

The Poetry of Nature

Edited by HENRY VAN DYKE. "Some of these verses are but little lyrics, brief and delicate wafts of song, like Herrick's 'Daffodils'; others are deeper and stronger, moving with a long-drawn, solemn music of thought, like Wordsworth's 'Tintern Abbey,' or sweeping us away with tempest tones, like Shelley's 'West Wind.' But two things will be found in all of them, simple or profound. They are true to the facts of Nature." The volume has been embellished with sixteen pictorial interpretations by Henry Troth, four of them plate-marked and all exquisitely reproduced in photogravure. It is a gift book for the discriminating. Boxed. Net price, $2.50.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Philosophy of Dancing

By LUTHER H. GULICK. This book shows how different communities have met the problem of public recreation and festivals, and particularly to show with some detail the meaning and use of folk-dancing. These folk dances are discussed from the standpoint of health and grace, and the author, who has been identified with the new movement for teaching all sorts of folk dances in the public schools, tells how the folk dance may be carried out in connection with school, social and playground life. Sixty-four illustrations. Net price, $1.40.

Auxiliary Education

By DR. B. MAENNEL. "Auxiliary Education," by Dr. B. Maennel, deals with the problem of educating children whose mental development deviates from the normal owing to physical or mental defects, either congenital or acquired. Net price, $1.50.

As Old as the Moon

CUBAN LEGENDS AND FOLKLORE OF THE ANTILLES. By MRS. FLORENCE JACKSON STODDARD. This is the first collection made of the myths, nature stories, and semi-historical tales of primitive Cuba and neighboring islands of the Antilles. It is a fascinating story book for students of folklore and a valuable reference book for historians and ethnologists. Net price, $1.00.

Political Issues and Outlooks

By WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT. A collection of the chief addresses of William Taft delivered throughout the country in the period between his nomination and inauguration. Together they form a vigorous and lucid summary of the essential problems in the American life and politics of to-day. Net price $1.25.

Accounting Every Business Man Should Know

By E. E. GARRISON. The aim of this work has been to lay bare the whole structure of modern accounting from foundation to summit. Simply and briefly the author explains the principles of business operation and finance, and clears away all obscurities. Fixed price, $1.20.

TRESPASS

MRS. HENRY DUDENEY

The ripe work of a woman who has won her place in the front rank of modern English novelists. Its vivid theme is "the eternal triangle" of two men and one woman, developed unexpectedly and with a veritable wealth of story-telling ability.

To describe it in set terms is inadequate, for Trespass needs some new word to match its originality, its power, its largeness of theme, its human nature, its wit, its dramatic fire.

To quote the London Daily News: "It is full of good things—every page a mine of witty sayings"; according to the Liverpool Courier it is "a wonderfully able book"; and in the opinion of the British Weekly it is "the ablest of all the new novels."

A great advance on her former novels, Trespass—a "best seller" in England—will make its author's reputation in America secure, because it will turn every discriminating man and woman who reads it into an enthusiastic admirer of Mrs. Henry Dudeney.

Four Important Fall Novels

The Shadow Between His Shoulder-Blades

JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS Ready Oct. 16

Illustrated by GEORGE HARDING. 90 cents net; postage 10 cents.

A fine example of the beloved creator of "Uncle Remus" as a teller of Civil War tales.

The story is told by Mr. Billy Sanders, the sage of Shady Dale,—a character which was one of the last creations of Mr. Harris, and bids fair to rival "Uncle Remus" in popular esteem—and relates in his inimitable style how he and his friend Wimberly Driscoll rode out to join General Forrest and how they crossed the trail of a Union spy who declared himself a loyal Southerner masquerading in the Federal uniform. The love interest is vivid and the story leads up to a dramatic climax. Throughout the reader feels the force of the author's salient power of description, his characteristic humor and his fine sincerity.

Marie of Arcady

Ready October 16

F. HEWES LANCASTER

With a frontispiece by ROSE O'NEILL. $1.25.

In "Marie of Arcady" we have a genuine literary find.

The scene of this story of today is a settlement in the basin of a bayou along the lower Mississippi, remote from the world and from the century. Here dwell the 'Cajan people, who are the descendants of the exiles of the land of Acadie of the Evangeline legend. They live an idyllic existence in "a land of small farms and large loves and of loyalty to love."

The story in its sweetness and human appeal is filled with the idyllic charm of its setting, but it is not without its dramatic quality, and this is all the more powerful because it is unsuspected by the reader.

The lovable characters are admirably drawn and give a clearly defined picture of a people and a locality which become the author's own as surely as Mary E. Wilkins stands for New England rural life, or George W. Cable for old creole days in New Orleans. Except for magazine contributions, the author is a new-comer in the field of fiction, but evidently is destined to remain not long unknown.

The story with its quaintness contains many a smile and produces many a lump in the throat, and it leaves the reader with that "Dickensy" feeling we all love so well of "God bless us every one."

Old Clinkers

Ready October 23

A Story of the New York Fire Department

HARVEY J. O'HIGGINS

Author of "The Smoke Eaters," etc. With illustrations by MARTIN JUSTICE. $1.50.

A book of the greatest public interest.

Captain Keighley of the fireboat Hudson, nick named "Old Clinkers," is a fine figure of a man. When he finds the politicians insidiously at work among his crew, he fights them in silence by fighting some dangerous fires in a way that sets the blood to dancing and the nerves a-tingle.

So long as brave deeds of self-sacrifice thrill the hearts of men, books like "Old Clinkers" will continue to be read.

The Chronicles of Rhoda

Ready October 23

FLORENCE TINSLEY COX

Illustrated in full color by JESSIE WILLCOX SMITH. $1.25.

Here is a charming book which belongs to that ever delightful class of "stories about children for grown-ups" of which "Emmy Lou" and "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" are examples. Much of it was first published in McClure's, and though this is her first book, the author is no stranger to readers of the magazines.

When we first become acquainted with Rhoda, as the "dethroned queen" who discovers that suddenly her favored place as "baby" has been pre-empted, we find her three years old; when we leave her she is seven. The world and the family we learn to see and to know through her eyes, and those of us who can still recall the misunderstandings, the hopes, the wounded vanities, the unconscious humors of childhood, will recognize the perfect fidelity of the viewpoint and applaud the writer's skill.

Her touch is light and loving, for sympathy and comprehension go hand in hand. Rhoda's chronicles are set down with truth, tenderness, simplicity, and humor.

SAALFIELD'S FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE SAALFIELD ANNUAL

A Picture Book for Boys and Girls

Edited by HARRY GOLDING

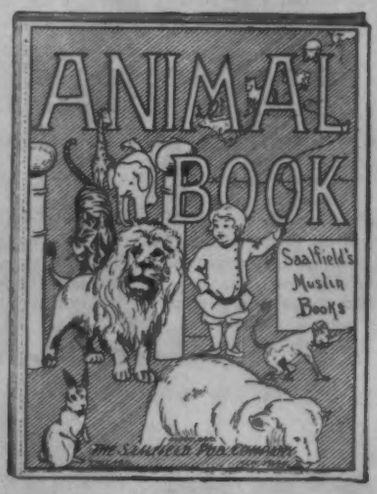
Eleven Colored Plates

This generous volume is crowded to overflowing with the best of literature for boys and girls. The stories and poems tell of animal friends, playtimes, excursions—just such things as most intensely interest small readers. The verses are of high merit, and serve to break the monotony of so large a book of all prose selections.

Handsomely and extravagantly illustrated. Eleven plates in colors; sixteen full-page drawings in black; text cuts on almost every page. Printed lining paper. Large quarto, plain type.

Boards $1.25
Cloth bound, colored lithograph insert..... 1.50

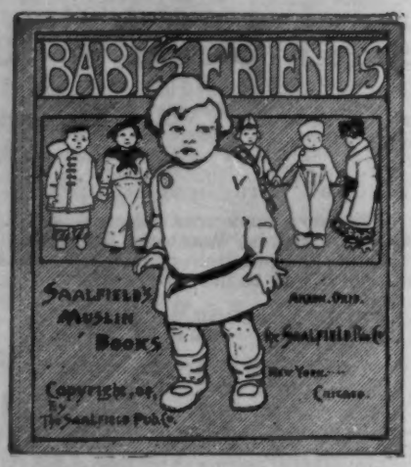
THE SAALFIELD MUSLIN BOOKS



All my other books are worn,
And the leaves are badly torn,
But the Muslin Books I found
Were as good as newly bound.

Durable Attractive Popular

The Saalfield Muslin Books are printed on soft muslin, in exceedingly bright colors. They may be bent, folded, rolled, yet not be broken or torn. They may be washed and the colors will not run. The baby may put the leaves in his mouth with safety, for the print will not come off, and the inks are absolutely non-poisonous. Bright pictures and jingles on every page Large print, easily read. Nine Series.



SAALFIELD'S TINTED CLOTH BOOKS

Titles: Birds, Flowers, Butterflies, Garden A B C

The Saalfield Tinted Cloth Books will be recognized as a distinct novelty in the line of toy books. They are printed on muslin of delicate shade—one on tan cloth, another on green, etc. The subjects chosen for the four books lend themselves very readily to artistic design, and the illustrators have faithfully followed nature, making the Series of practical value to the child, giving correct impressions of color, form, etc.

This Series is printed in five colors, on strong, fine cloth, and will be largely used in the kindergarten and primary grades as well as in the home.

12 Pages, 8x9 inches, in Colors.....$0.50

HAPPY HOUR PAINT BOOK

The distinguishing feature of the HAPPY HOUR PAINT BOOK is that it is of intrinsic value in teaching the child the first principles of drawing and the combination of colors. Beginning with straight and curved lines and primary colors, a complete course is given, though all under the guise of simple entertainment.

The accompanying text is lucid, so that every child will quickly comprehend the instructions.

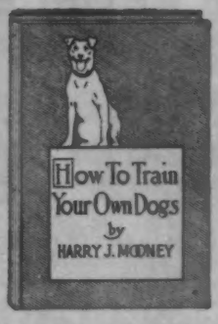
HOW TO TRAIN YOUR OWN DOGS

By HARRY J. MOONEY

Edited by EDWARD F. CARSON

Drawings by ARTHUR DE BEBIAN



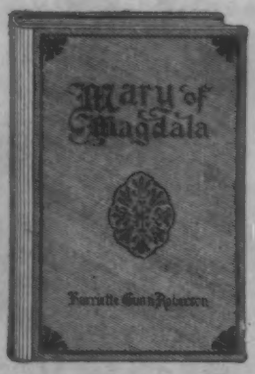
A practical guide and manual for those who desire to teach their dogs tricks which make them valuable and useful pets. The explanations of methods are simple, and the lessons explicit. Mr. Mooney has brought to the work the benefit of years' experience as trainer with Barnum & Bailey, and so speaks with authority.

The tricks given are easily taught, and combined they are equal to many stage performances of expert trainers.

Cloth, illustrated.....$0.50

MARY OF MAGDALA

By HARRIETTE GUNN ROBERSON



Rev. Robert Stuart MacArthur says:

"The conception of the story is vigorous, and the delineation of the characters strong, vivid and attractive. The author has reason to be grateful to God for the success achieved."

Mary Magdalene was the retiring daughter of one of Jerusalem's wealthiest men. She was pure as the immaculate lily, sweet as its elusive perfume, shy as its opening blooms—an all satisfying heroine.

John, the Beloved Disciple, recounts his love story for this Lily Maid of Jerusalem, whom tradition and art have too long confused with another of similar name, but a woman of ill-repute. It has been the author's delight to clear the mystery and to weave about her heroine as tender a romance as ever woman lived.

Spurning high Roman officials who seek her because of her exquisite beauty, she becomes involved in their intrigues, and falls a victim to their insatiable revenge. Father in prison, fortune fled, reason gone, despair fills her disciple-lover's heart, but the healing power of Christ, their master, restores her, and under the sunny Palestinian hills the two live out a wonderfully beautiful though brief romance.

Important New Gift Books

FALL, 1909

HARRISON FISHER

American Beauties

Twenty-one perfect American Beauties artistically arranged in a golden vase. Mr. Fisher's new and only contribution to this year's Christmas festivities. Beautiful in drawing, exquisite in color, fascinating in appeal, these types of American womanhood disclose Mr. Fisher at the very peak of his artistic career. This book may well be called the Gift of Gifts. Pictures in color by HARRISON FISHER. Decorated by EARL STETSON CRAWFORD. Size 9 x 11 inches, jacket in full color and gold, cloth, boxed, $3.00.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

Riley Roses

A collection of Riley's famous poems of the queen on flowers, including that ever popular classic, OLD FASHIONED ROSES, illustrated by HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTY. Several of these drawings are compositions, not single heads, and are very beautiful in their conception as well as execution, indicating again that Mr. Christy has caught the spirit of Mr. Riley's inimitable verse. Decorations by FRANKLIN BOOTH. Size 7 x 9 inches, cloth, $2.00. Red English leather, $3.00.

Old School Day Romances

From this title it is easy to imagine the kind of poem that Riley has written. It's a Riley subject, if ever there was one, homely, humorous, touching. The familiar scenes; the old accustomed places; the little trials that seemed so great, the little joys that filled the heart completely, all these are here glorified with the golden light of Riley's wonderful genius. Fully and most artistically illustrated and decorated in color by EARL STETSON CRAWFORD. 8vo, jacket in full color and gold, end papers, boxed, cloth, $1.50. Red English leather, $2.25.

Important New Novels

FALL, 1909

MacGRATH'S

The Goose Girl

MacGrath has never written so engaging a romance. It glows with kindliness, good cheer and love. It's impossible to read THE GOOSE GIRL and keep the sunlight from your soul. And then it's a story of many tangled threads, of many characters that come and go and grow.

Take it from us: THE GOOSE GIRL is MacGrath at his best. By HAROLD MacGRATH, author of "The Man on the Box," "The Lure of the Mask," etc., etc. Illustrated by ANDRE CASTAIGNE. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

CASTAIGNE'S

The Bill-Toppers

The Great Novel of the Vaudeville Stage. It is unique. A master-hand has set forth in fiction the whole vaudeville world, and we have what is not only a work of genius but the final as well as the first complete and fully colored picture. It is a gale of a book, whirling along, and setting in a flutter of life a myriad human passions and activities.

Illustrated with twenty-five pictures by the Author. Jacket picture in full color and gold by HARRISON FISHER. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

ISHAM'S

Half a Chance

No Tale Like This Since Charles Reade. The romantic incidents of its plot—the wreck of the convict ship, the rescue, the strange events on the desert isle, the return to England, the recognition, the man-hunt, the pursuit across fog-bound London, the splendid climax in which John Steele rights himself—they are thrilling enough to take your breath away!

By the author of "The Strollers," "Under the Rose," etc., etc. Illustrated by HERMAN PFEIFER. Illuminated jacket in full color and gold, em bossed. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Artistic Holiday Gifts

The Shepherd of Jebel-Nur

By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. Bound in vellum, with photogravure illustrations. 50 cents net.

THE scene of this new portrayal of shepherd life is located definitely in a region admirably adapted to this narrative which answers the call from many readers for a companion to "The Song of Our Syrian Guest," interpreting the shepherd love of the New Testament.

Ideals for Every-day Living

Edited by DELIA LYMAN PORTER. About 160 pages, similar in general make-up to "A Year of Good Cheer." 75 cents net.

TIMELY admonitions and encouragements for daily life. Those who remember that charming book, "A Year of Good Cheer," will welcome as an ideal holiday remembrance this second "cheery inspirer of happy thoughts." A suggestive topic is taken for each three days and illustrated by pertinent quotations.

The Song of the Infinite

By FRANK CRANE. 64 pages. Decorative vellum binding. 50 cents net.

OUR conception of that glorious pæan, the One Hundred and Third Psalm, is enriched and enlarged by Dr. Crane's exposition. With ringing phrases, and spirited imagery, he brings the messages of the ages home to the heart of every man. The treatment is original, scholarly, and appealing.

A Year of Good Cheer

By DELIA LYMAN PORTER. Flexible cover, printed in two colors, with insert in three colors. 50 cents; green ooze, with gold stamp, $1.00.

MRS. PORTER has gained a wide circle of admirers by her happy selection of quotations, and it has been increased very largely by the delightful form in which this collection appears. The arrangement is by weeks with space left for the reader's favorite quotations.

The Song of Our Syrian Guest

By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. Pearl gray cloth with white enamel design, and illustrations by Charles Copeland. 50 cents.

THIS story has proved to be one of those simple products in literature which are brought forth in a quiet manner and after a time are found to be a distinct gift to mankind. It is unlike anything else ever written on the Shepherd Psalm.

Crossing the Bar: A Lyric of the Life Everlasting

By GEORGE A. GORDON. Bound in vellum. Decorative borders. Printed from type specially imported from France. 50 cents net.

DR. GORDON, in his inspiring appreciation which reveals new beauties in Tennyson's flawless lyric, seems to have caught the full-toned organ melody of the poet himself. In prose impressive by its very simplicity, he shows us that the love of God enshrines all we have ever held dear.

A Man's Faith

By WILFRED T. GRENFELL, M.D. Bound in boards of onyx malachite, decorative side stamp. 50 cents net.

IN this simple Credo Dr. Grenfell strikes deep into the heart of things fundamental. The vital beliefs which spur a man to high action and daily faithfulness to duty are frankly set down.

"Dr. Grenfell writes just as he talks, practical all over, like his life."—Springfield Daily Republican.

Old Andover Days

By SARAH STUART ROBBINS. Boards, deckle edge, illustrated. $1.00.

THE book is written with a vivacity of style which would charm any reader, but to one who knows Andover and the famous men and women of early days, it makes a peculiar appeal of its own. Many a delicious personal anecdote creeps in.

The Signs in the Christmas Fire

By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. Vellum edition, gray-green and gold bronze, photogravure frontispiece. 50 cents; board edition, gray-green with colored frontispiece, 35 cents.

IN this touching Christmas story Dr. Knight has shown again the qualities of sympathetic insight into human lives of all ages and races, tender sentiment, fresh power of interpretation, and delicate grace of expression, creating a dramatic setting in the story of the exiled Greek and his beautiful daughter.

The Love Watch

By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. Velllum edition, gray-green and gold bronze, frontispiece, printed in two colors. 50 cents.

A BEAUTIFUL little story by the author of the world famous "Song of Our Syrian Guest." The simple reverence of his style and the exquisite word painting of the author take the reader into the sacred intimacy of the Bethany home of Lazarus and his sisters.

NEW FICTION

A SENSE OF HUMOR. By COSMO HAMILTON and BERYL FABER. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This new book, written, in collaboration, by the author of ADAM'S CLAY, shows all the keen insight and deep comprehension of feminine human nature which have characterized his other excellent books, but will prove a delightful surprise in the fresh and spontaneous delicacy of its irresistible humor. The situations are original and unusual, developing a brilliant farce-comedy out of what might easily have culminated in a domestic tragedy.

THE DUPE. By GERALD BISS. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

A thrilling detective story of really novel and unusual plot, unravelling a murder mystery which the criminal attempts to conceal by a daring piece of masquerading.

HENRY IN SEARCH OF A WIFE. By ALPHONSE COURLANDER. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The remarkable experience of a simple-headed and delightfully amusing gentleman in his attempts to find a congenial helpmate. An altogether unusual book.

The MOVING of the WATERS

JAY CADY'S new novel will be a prime favorite. It is a delightful love-story; wholesome, with rich humor. It gives a picture of life not often surpassed for its closeness to human nature and the best that is in it.

Illustrations in tint, by H. Richard Boehm.
Wrappers in gold and colors, by Will Grefé. 12mo. $1.50.

DORRIEN CARFAX

NOWELL GRIFFITH is a new writer, but makes his mark right now. A noted critic writes of "Dorrien Carfax":

"It is a classic. It simply must live, owing to its vital human appeal to all classes of readers, and in my opinion will—when understood and realized—rank with the biggest novels of English and American literature, notably with "Vanity Fair" and "David Copperfield." It will be the talk of the literary day; in every one's mouth."

MARGARITA'S SOUL

An American Love Story

By "INGRAHAM LOVELL"

Profusely illustrated by J. Scott Williams

Whistler Butterfly Designs. Cloth. 12mo. $1.50

Much interest has been aroused in the serial publication of this American romance, and there is considerable speculation as to its authorship. Many well-known writers have been suspected, among them Peter Dunne (Mr. Dooley), Hichens, Edith Wharton, Booth Tarkington, Ida Tarbell and W. J. Locke.

"Margarita's Soul" will give you the joyful thrill which you experienced when you first read "The Beloved Vagabond" and "Trilby."

Get it and judge for yourself.

The Book for the Fall and Holiday Trade

Here is a book that will live through the generations

A MAN WITHOUT PRINCIPLE?

Unconventional
Fascinating
Intensely Human

By RETSEL TERREVE

(Now in its fourth edition)

The thrilling and dramatic story of a criminal who, after conquering the prejudices of our modern society, was called upon to rule it.

In a wonderful series of word pictures the reader is carried from the slums to the aristocratic homes and gambling resorts of the American metropolis; then to the heart of London's great financial center, and through the intricate mazes of English company promotion; then back to America, and across the continent to the humanizing, inspiring atmosphere of the great and virgin West. And through it all, directed by a merciless, but master hand, one runs the entire gamut of human emotions; of all the controlling passions of mankind as found in society of the present day. It is a book that will set the blood on fire; that will impress a moral on the mind of every one who reads.

The Baltimore American says: "The author has produced a work that will mark an epoch in virile character delineation and resourceful fertility of plot. Strong and blood-stirring in every chapter, it carries, by the force of its climax, the reader to the crest of the billows. It possesses interest for the man of sedate mind and the girl who has romantic fancies. It has a moral for the moralist and a touch of human artistry for the humanist. Victor Hugo stood alone, yet this author has entered into his heritage."

Edwin Markham in the Chicago Examiner says: "This novel possesses staple and enduring qualities. It is a story earnest and inspiring in principle, swift in action and interesting in detail. The purpose of the story is so strong, the characterization, whether moral or immoral, is so true, and the scenes of the constantly shifting life so natural, that the book immediately appeals to the attention and approval of the reader. It is stirring, appealing, convincing, and so, as a novel with a lofty purpose, it engages and holds attention on its merits."

"In character delineation and fertility of scheme the book is remarkable. There is no marking of time. Every chapter is interesting, and interest begins in the first one; an interest that will grip and hold the reader from start to finish."—Boston Globe. (Second review.)

"A strong story which leaves its impression upon the mind of the most casual reader. It is the work of a master mind, and its virile characterization, realistic scenes and complete understanding of the human emotions make it an absorbing piece of fiction. It represents literary artistry at its best."—Courier, Buffalo, N. Y.

"This novel is not a single meal, but a whole meal ticket, and will last the hungry, even the gluttonous reader a good, long time. For every scene the author has a literary style to match. He changes easily from the most impassioned prose to the slang of the street; from comedy to tragedy, from drama to melodrama. There is enough in this book to make a whole syndicate of stories, a whole repertoire of plays; and its moral is a good one."—New York Globe.

IRWIN, WILL The Confessions of a Con Man

This is fact, not fiction. The Con Man lives; he spent his life dabbling in every crooked game known to the under world, and he has told his story to Mr. Irwin with the air of a connoisseur in petty crime. Illustrated by W. Glackens. $1.00 net.

LEONARD, WILLIAM ELLERY The Poet of Galilee

A glowing picture of the great human figure as the result of a purely rationalistic interpretation of his spoken words. $1.00 net.

MARKHAM, EDWIN (Introduction by) The Marvellous Year

In 1909 we celebrate the centenaries of fourteen great leaders in Art, Science, Literature and Statesmanship, and this book is a memorial to the year. It contains a portrait, drawn by Gertrude Huebsch, and a brief biographical essay of each subject. A handsome gift book at a very low price. $1.25 net.

MATTHEWS, FRANKLIN Back to Hampton Roads (Sequel to "With the Battle Fleet")

This completes the story of the cruise, taking up the narrative at San Francisco. This book tells of the visits to Australia, etc., the people, government, customs. The book promises to equal the first volume in popularity. $1.50.

PFLEIDERER, OTTO The Development of Christianity

He traces the growth of Christianity from its beginning to the present day, and illuminates this much-discussed theme by his incomparable insight and wisdom. Complementary to "Christian Origins" and "Religion and Historic Faiths.") $1.50 net.

SCHMIDT, NATHANIEL The Federation of the World

An illuminating forecast, now in preparation by this notable ethical leader, philologist, archæologist and economist.

SPARGO, JOHN The Substance of Socialism

Above all things the author is practical; the average man will understand what Socialism really means; its attitude toward private property and personal liberty, and the moral basis on which the movement rests. $1.00 net.

Karl Marx: His Life and Work

At last an adequate biography of the dominant figure in Socialism. A great work, destined to modify conceptions of this misunderstood prophet of a new order. $2.50 net.

SUDERMANN, HERMANN The Song of Songs

This novel is Sudermann's masterpiece; it is a book that will live. The author knows men and women; he knows life. Such an analysis of the influence of heredity and environment on a loving woman cast adrift upon the sea of life demands the attention of those who study mankind, those who study great literature and those who love a good story. $1.40 net.

CARTER, ADA

THE SEAMLESS ROBE. A Twentieth Century Imprint of the Ideal. 12mo, Cloth, $1.50

Frankly a novel with a purpose designed for serious minded readers and to such it will prove of deep interest. . . . There can be no doubt as to the author's literary ability, her earnestness of intention and her charitableness in stating a message which she herself believes to be divine. Christian science tends to point lukewarm religious organizations back to the power of primitive Christianity and this "THE SEAMLESS ROBE" shows.

CLARKE, JOHN H., M.D.

VITAL ECONOMY; or, How to Conserve Your Strength 16mo, Cloth, Net, $0.50

Tells in a practical way how people who have little energy to spare can use that energy to the best advantage. It takes up the subject of the bath, fresh air, exercise, coffee and tea drinking, worry, etc., and in all has many useful suggestions. (Ready October 1.)

MEYNELL, EVERARD

COROT AND HIS FRIENDS. 8vo, Cloth, gilt top, with 29 illustrations, Net, $3.25

Although Corot's career offers extraordinary attractions and but few obscurities to the biographer, no complete account of the painter has appeared. With chapters devoted to his method of work and of life, to his delightful aphorisms, to his likes and his dislikes in his own and other arts, to Corot places and Corot prices, this book may be called the complete Corot.

(Ready September 15.)

POWELL, ADDISON M.

TRAILING AND CAMPING IN ALASKA. A Record of Ten Years Exploration. 12mo, Cloth, Ornamental, with about 30 full-page illustrations, Net, $2.00

The insight the author gives into the hardships of prospectors, into the manners and customs of the Indians and Whites, wonderful bits of description of scenery; of encounters with grizzlies, the shooting of such wild game as moose and caribou; glimpses of human tragedy, of human sympathy, and unselfishness—it all makes up an absorbingly interesting and well told tale.

(Ready October 15.)

WARD, MRS. J. CARLTON

UNDER THE NORTHERN LIGHTS. 12mo, Cloth, with wrapper in colors and gold, three illustrations, $1.50

The author is familiar with her ground and has seen Alaska under the most favorable circumstances. Her descriptions of the northern lights and the manner in which she has woven them into her story are features that commend it especially, but at the same time both plot and construction are dramatic and artistic.

Presenting conditions of peculiarly timely interest, Mrs. Ward's novel, "Under the Northern Lights," will be received with gratification by a host of readers. (Ready.)

THE CANVAS DOOR By MARY FAIRLEY SANBORN

With frontispiece in color by H. Richard Boehm

First, last and thruout a love story, sweet and wholesome. Fantastic in its conception of the reincarnation theme, it is nevertheless so exquisite in style, so subtly clever in execution, as to carry a certain conviction, while the characterization of Allegra—beautiful, whimsically feminine and altogether charming Allegra—strikes a keynote in a new season's fiction. Cloth, 12mo. $1.50

MR. JACKSON By HELEN GREEN

Frontispiece by Wallace Morgan

This new volume by the author of "At the Actors' Boarding House" introduces new characters; but her "under-world" delineation is as strong as ever. "Mr. Jackson" is the "Raffles" of New York confidence men; polished, educated, resourceful, daring. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25

MY QUEST OF THE ARAB HORSE

By HOMER DAVENPORT

Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, has one hobby, his Arabian horses. A special irade from the Sultan allowing him to export from Turkey nineteen pure-blooded Arabs; he travelled into the heart of the desert, won the friendship of the "Sheik of Sheiks," was made a blood brother to the tribe, and through this fellowship secured a score of the best horses of the Arabian stock. Illustrated with some fifty pictures taken by the Davenport party and numerous cartoons by the author.

ROMANTIC GERMANY

By ROBERT HAVEN SCHAUFFLER. Frontispiece in full color by Scherres. Sixty full-page illustrations by famous German artists, O'Lynch von Town, Gertrude Wurmb, Scherres, Vetter, and Herrmann, all in two printings. Royal 8vo, 400 pages. Price, $3.50 net; postage, 19 cents.

A delightful book, appealing to the traveller, the German-American, and the lover of the picturesque, and covering a field of travel and description practically untouched since Bayard Taylor's "Views Afoot." The illustrations have been labors of love by some of the more notable of the younger German painters.

ONE HUNDRED COUNTRY HOUSES

By AYMAR EMBURY, II. One hundred half-tone illustrations, from fine photographs of the best and most interesting types of modern country homes. Heavy pages, broad margins. Size, 10 x 11 inches. Price, $3.00 net; postage, 30 cents.

Here is a book for every country dweller, and for every would-be country dweller, the most suggestive, comprehensive, and delightful volume on the history, development, uses and abuses of American architecture yet published.

THE STORY OF DUTCH PAINTING

By CHARLES H. CAFFIN, author of "How to Study Pictures," etc. Twenty-five half-tone reproductions of notable Dutch canvases. Square 8vo, 160 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage 12 cents.

A complete and entertaining handbook of Dutch art—of unusual worth for adult students of art as well as for wide-awake young folks. The fine illustrations add greatly to the volume's value and interest.

RECOLLECTIONS OF GROVER CLEVELAND

By GEORGE F. PARKER. Photogravure frontispiece. Thirty-two half-tone illustrations from photographs. Royal 8vo, 400 pages. Price, $3.00 net; postage, 21 cents.

Beyond question the most important biographical issue of the season—an accurate, sympathetic narrative of Mr. Cleveland's life, with an estimate of his place in history, and an appreciation of his achievements and character.

ROBERT FULTON AND THE CLERMONT

The authoritative story of Robert Fulton's early experiments, persistent efforts, and historic achievements, by ALICE CRARY SUTCLIFFE, great-granddaughter of the inventor. Handsomely illustrated, with many of Fulton's hitherto unpublished letters, drawings, and pictures. 12mo, 367 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage, 11 cents.

This is a notable contribution to history and to the records of steam-navigation, of great timely interest to all American citizens. The book is notable for the large amount of Fulton material given publication for the first time now, and for the most remarkable collection of Fulton illustrations ever brought together.

ALCOHOL

A study of its effect on the individual, the community, and the race, by HENRY SMITH WILLIAMS, M.D., LL.D. Boards, 151 pages. Price, 50 cents net; postage, 5 cents.

The most important and striking study of alcohol and its influence that has yet been given to the public. Important statistics and tables add to its value.

THE TRAINING OF FARMERS

By LIBERTY H. BAILEY, Director of the College of Agriculture of Cornell University, and Editor of the Cyclopedia of Agriculture. Price, $1.00 net; postage, 8 cents.

Discussion of the vital problems of farm life and of the farmer's place in the scheme of modern American civilization.

DRY-FARMING: ITS PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE

By WILLIAM MACDONALD, M.S.Agr., Sc.D., Ph.D. Thirty-two full-page illustrations. 12mo, 250 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage, 11 cents.

The history, development, possibilities and methods of farming on land where the soil is fertile though the rainfall is below normal.

THE NEW THUMB-NAIL—Great Hymns of the Middle Ages

The best texts, edited and with a preface by MISS EVELINE WARNER BRAINERD. Cover design and title-page by Blanche McManus Mansfield. Frontispiece and title-page in two printings. In a box, $1.00.

AUNT AMITY'S SILVER WEDDING

By RUTH McENERY STUART, author of "Sonny," etc. Illustrations by Frederic Dorr Steele, A. B. Frost, and others. 16mo, 228 pages. Price, $1.00.

Mrs. Stuart has done nothing better—not even in "Sonny"—than this little book containing "Aunt Amity's Silver Wedding," "Thanksgiving on Crawfish Bayou," "Petty Larceny," and "The Hair of the Dog." Humor and pathos are blended in every line.

THE CENTURY CO., Union Square, New York

The Century Co.'s New Fiction

LITTLE SISTER SNOW

By FRANCES LITTLE, author of "The Lady of the Decoration." Twelve full-page illustrations, from paintings made in Japan by Genjiro Kataoka, reproduced in the lovely colorings of the originals. 16mo, 150 pages. Price, $1.00 net; postage, 7 cents.

There is nothing in the English language more exquisite than this love story of "Little Sister Snow," quaintest and most bewitching of Japanese lassies. Like a delicate, fragrant flower is the story of her happy girlhood and of the love that touched and made beautiful her girlhood, while below the surface charm runs a deep undercurrent of dramatic power.

ZANDRIE

By MARIAN EDWARDS RICHARDS. Frontispiece in color. 12mo, 350 pages. Price, $1.50.

An unusual story of an unusual girl, "half angel and half bird," charmingly told by a new writer. An increasingly fascinating story and one full of surprises.

ANTONIO

By ERNEST OLDMEADOW, author of "Susan," etc. Frontispiece in color. 12mo, 581 pages. Price, $1.30 net; postage, 15 cents.

A strong and dramatic novel of a Monk and a Man and a Girl; and how Love brought joy and sorrow and a great struggle.

AN UNOFFICIAL LOVE STORY

By ALBERT HICKMAN. Illustrated. 16mo, 200 pages. Price, $1.00.

Marjorie is quite the most bewitching—and bewildering—proposition put into a book in many a long day; and her adventures are handled with the rich and racy humor of which Mr. Hickman is past master.

THE PRODIGAL FATHER

By J. STORER CLOUSTON. 12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.

A cleverly amusing yarn of a man who began to renew his youth; and of the complications, funny and otherwise, that came thick and fact.

Books for Boys and Girls

CAPTAIN CHUB

By RALPH HENRY BARBOUR, author of "The Crimson Sweater," etc. Twenty-three full-page illustrations by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, 400 pages. Price, $1.50.

The fourth, and just about the best, of the wholesome "Crimson Sweater" series, carrying on the fun and adventures of Tom and Dick and Harriet and and Roy.

THE BOYS' LIFE OF ULYSSES S. GRANT

By HELEN NICOLAY, author of "The Boys' Life of Lincoln," etc. Sixteen illustrations. 12mo, 378 pages. Price, $1.50.

Good reading for young folks of all ages, and a worthy companion volume to Miss Nicolay's classic "Boys' Life of Lincoln."

WHEN I GROW UP

Jolly pictures and verse by W. W. DENSLOW. Twenty-four full-pages in color. Twenty-four full-page half-tones, with chapter headings, tail-pieces, and marginal drawings. Square 8vo. Price, $1.00 net; postage, 12 cents.

Just the cleverest record yet set down of a healthy lad's nebulous dreams of what he would like to be when he grows up; and the funniest book yet of the famous illustrator of "The Wizard of Oz."

FROM SIOUX TO SUSAN

By AGNES McCLELLAND DAULTON, author of "Fritzi," etc. Twenty-two full-page illustrations by Bessie Collins Pease. 12mo, 342 pages. Price, $1.50.

The pretty story, delightfully told, of a happy family's happy home life and of a brave, madcap girl's days of storm and stress as she fights, to a glad success, her faults.

A SON OF THE DESERT

By BRADLEY GILMAN. Sixteen illustrations by Thornton Oakley. 12mo, 363 pages. Price, $1.50.

A stirring story of a young American lad's adventures in Egypt, with the brave son of a Bedouin sheik for hero. The best kind of an adventure book.

THE LASS OF THE SILVER SWORD

By MARY CONSTANCE DU BOIS, author of "Elinor Arden, Royalist," etc. Twenty-two illustrations by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, 418 pages. Price, $1.50.

A story of girls and boys—for girls and boys—quite out of the ordinary in its jollity and its many real adventures. Most of the scenes are set in an Adirondack camp.

STORIES OF THE GREAT WEST

By THEODORE ROOSEVELT. With 16 full-page illustrations by Frederic Remington and others. 12mo, 254 pages. Price, 60 cents net.

A collection of Mr. Roosevelt's best writings on the discoveries, growth, and life of the Great West—a stirring, patriotic, wholesome book.

A Perfect, Up-to-date Encyclopedia for $6

WINSTON'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

Edited by CHARLES MORRIS, Editor-in-Chief; FRANCIS T. FUREY, A.M., Professor History and Literature; A. R. Spofford, Ex-Librarian of Congress; CHARLES ANNANDALE, A.M., LL.D., British Museum; and other Eminent Specialists.

Complete in Every Department of Human Knowledge

The John C. Winston Co., Publishers, offer The Winston Encyclopedia, 8 volumes, 4176 pages, finely printed, bound in green vellum de luxe, with red leather label, for $6.

There is no better encyclopedia at five times the cost. It answers every conceivable question that comes up in reading, study, business, work and recreation.

The Winston marks the first publication of an absolute authoritative encyclopedia at so low a cost. You can pay $60 or $100 for more matter, but we will not readily admit that such matter explains subjects treated with any more clearness than the Winston. Everything is treated in simple language, free from technicalities.

This Work Will Have an Enormous Sale

Practically without advertising we sold 27,500 sets of this Encyclopedia in five months. Therefore we know that it gives satisfaction. We know that it meets the requirements of daily usage in home, school and office. We know it is up-to-date, because frequent printings enable us to revise it as often as necessary.

The range of this work covers every phase of history, invention, discovery and science in the world. It is a regular encyclopedia in the full meaning of the word and stands the most searching examination and comparison.

WHY IT IS SOLD SO LOW. As manufacturers we save many profits. The printing and binding is all done in our own plant. We save the middlemen's profits. Our 25-year-old reputation, with such references as Dun, Bradstreet or any national bank or trust company behind it, is your guarantee of the accuracy of our claims.

THE FOREIGNER: A Tale of Saskatchewan

is the full title of the NEW NOVEL by RALPH CONNOR to be published about November 1st, 1909, by HODDER & STOUGHTON (GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY, NEW YORK).

¶ In this new book Ralph Connor follows in sequence of time his earlier books on life in the Great Canadian Northwest.

¶ The influx of many peoples from other lands has added a new element to the life of the plain and the mountain. They have brought with them old world customs and habits, and Ralph Connor has lived in the midst of the assimilating process.

¶ In the evolution there is pathos and tragedy and humor, and Ralph Connor has seen it all. Now in his inimitable fashion he tells the story.

¶ It has been my privilege and very good fortune to enjoy the friendship of Ralph Connor (Charles W. Gordon) since the days of THE SKY PILOT, and in all his publishing work I have been intimately associated and much concerned.

¶ It is, therefore, with a very great degree of gratification that I assure the trade that THE FOREIGNER fully sustains Ralph Connor's high place as a writer of fiction.

¶ In many ways, because of the special attractiveness of his subject, I believe THE FOREIGNER to represent its author's finest literary achievement.

¶ It is highly gratifying to announce that the advance sales of THE FOREIGNER are much larger than the advance sales of any of his earlier books, necessitating a first printing of 125,000 copies.

¶ For this splendid record I am deeply indebted to the trade. I can only assure them all that their confidence is fully justified, and that the publishers' contribution to the success of the book will be complete with respect both to manner of production and methods of publicity.

NEW YORK, September, 1909.

Beach, Rex. Ellingwood. The silver horde: a novel; il. by Harvey T. Dunn. N. Y., Harper, 1909. c. 390 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Boyd Emerson had gone to Alaska to wrest a fortune from that frozen country in order to win Mildred Wayland, the daughter of a millionaire. He has three years' grace in which to win success, but at the end of the time is as far from his goal as ever. At this critical moment he meets Cherry Malotte, a girl with a smirched record behind her, who is trying to start fresh and has taken up a canning site on a wonderful salmon river. Emerson joins forces with her and they have a tremendous struggle against a canning trust headed by Mildred's father and the man he wishes her to marry. They are helped by a fisherman, George Balt, a young clubman, Alton Clyde, who wishes excitement, and Fingerless Fraser, an amusing crook, who proves most helpful and resourceful. There is plenty of action and adventure, all coming right for the happiness of Emerson in the end.

Benson, Ramsey. Melchisedec. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1909. c. 4+301 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The story of a quarter-blood Indian waif with large inheritance of the French, Scotch and Indian races, who learns to read and falls upon Hugo's "Les miserables." The Bishop who figures and saves Jean Valjean fires his imagination. He leaves the woods and goes into the cities to live the life of Christ. The nearest to his ideal Christian he meets in a Unitarian minister, who meets his fate crucified by his world. The outdoor life of the Far West and the slum life of cities are equally well described. By the author of "The lord of lands."

Blanchard, Amy Ella. Wits' End; il. by L. J. Bridgman. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1909.] c. 11-368 p. O. cl., †$1.50.

Wits' End is the name of the cottage on an island in Casco Bay where Miss Camilla Elliott and her niece, Gwendolin Whitredge, come to spend the summer. Two young men, one a matter-of-fact millionaire, the other a poor artist, are also staying on the island. Both fall in love with Gwen and it takes some time for the girl to decide whether love or riches shall win the day. Her father, whom everyone supposed dead, is discovered to be one of the fishermen living on the island, but he never reveals himself to the girl.

Chamberlain, Frank. Hudson tercentenary; an historical retrospect regarding the object and quest of an all-water route from Europe to India; the obstacles in the way; and also Hudson's voyage to America in 1609 and some of its results. Albany, N. Y., James B. Lyon Co., 1909. c. 101 p. O. cl. (Add. pubs. for price.)

Mr. Chamberlain clearly establishes the fact that Henry Hudson, although a great navigator, was not the discoverer of the Hudson river, nor Hudson strait, nor Hudson bay. That he did explore the Hudson river and wrote glowing accounts of his voyage, there can be no doubt. This is also true of other localities which he visited, the possibilities of which were so clearly set forth by Hudson. There is much of interest about the man in Mr. Chamberlain's little work and of the discoverers and navigators of three hundred years ago; also of the early emigrants and settlers following that remote period, whose operations were chiefly confined to the Hudson river from New York to Albany.

Crothers, S: McChord, D.D. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the autocrat, and his fellow boarders; with selected poems. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., 1909. c. 65 p. por. D. cl., 75 c. net.

The author is a well-known Unitarian minister and is closely allied in the wise whimsicality of his writings and the extent of his popularity to the inimitable "Autocrat." The book was written for the Holmes centenary, which fell upon this past August 29. The selected poems occupy about 24 pages of the little book.

De Cesare, Raffaele. The last days of Papal Rome, 1850-1870; abridged with the assistance of the author and tr. by Helen Zimmern; with an introductory chapter by G. M. Trevelyan. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., 1909. 23+488 p. il. pors. O. cl., *$3.50 net.

Signor De Cesare here paints an impartial picture of the period, 1850-'70, during which the temporal power of the Pope was tottering, to be finally overthrown by Victor Emmanuel and a united Italy built upon the ruins. The parts played by Cavour, Garibaldi, Napoleon III., and the Austrians are all traced, and the author's intimate social and family knowledge of the subject is brought to bear upon it. Index.

Defoe, Daniel. The life and strange surprising adventures of Robinson Crusoe; with il in col. by E. Boyd Smith. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., 1909. c. 8+435 p. O. cl., $1.50 net.

Once more we have this boys' classic in a new dress. The illustrations in color are by E. Boyd Smith, whose "Story of Noah's ark" appeared some few years ago. Only the first part of the original work is included in the volume, which is bound according to the specifications of the A. L. A. Binding Committee.

Dorrance, Ethel Smith. A maid and a man; with il. [in col.] by C: Weber-Ditzler. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909. c. 8+243 p. O. cl., $1.50 net.

The maid has literary aspirations and submits a story to the man, an editor, for his criticism. They spend much time together discussing the way of a man and a maid in a witty philandering way. There is another man in the background who is really the man, and the philanderer goes on his way rejoicing in his continued freedom.

Ellis, Katharine Ruth. The Wide Awake girls in Winsted; il. from drawings by Sears Gallagher. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., [1909.] c. 293 p. D. (Wide Awake girls ser.) cl., †$1.50.

Second book in the Wide Awake girls series. The four girls are together at Catherine's home in Winsted, where they have a very delightful time. They, with some boy and girl friends, take in hand the establishment of a library.

Fuller, Hubert Bruce. The Speakers of the House. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1909. c. 8+311 p. por. O. cl., $2 net.

The author's long residence in Washington, wide acquaintance among persons in authority and knowledge drawn from the more usual sources, make it possible for him to write authoritatively on the question of our national modes of legislation. He traces the development of the power of the Speaker from the mere moderator of the first session in 1789, down through the various administrations, until in 1909 the Speaker is the most potent factor in American legislative life. Gives pen pictures of some of the greatest characters in Congressional history and describes many of the most interesting scenes.

Gandy, J. P. The elements of banking: a guide to the principles and practice of banking. N. Y., Isaac Pitman & Sons, [1909.] 8+132 p. D. (Pitman's practical primers of business.) cl., 50 c.

Intended to give such useful knowledge of everyday banking as will enable beginners in business to draw, indorse, or otherwise deal with the bills, cheques, drafts, etc., requiring daily attention.—Preface.

Goodwin, Mrs. Maud Wilder. Veronica Playfair; il. [in col.] by Lester Ralph. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1909. c. 319 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "White Aprons" and "Sir Christopher" here writes a tale of historic Bath in the eighteenth century, and as her strong characters introduces Swift, Pope, Lady Mary Montagu, Lord Bolingbroke, Beau Nash and our own Benjamin Franklin in his youth. Veronica is the belle of Bath and her love story in the gayest days of the fashionable life of Bath is the chief interest of the romance.

Gostling, Mrs. Frances M. The Bretons at home; with an introd. [in French] by Anatole Le Braz; with 12 il. in color by Gaston Fanty Lescure, and 32 other illustrations. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. 24+304 p. O. cl., *$2.50 net.

Author has spent many months during the past six years in Brittany, and has learned to know the Bretons in their homes. The book is the story of a journey through the Province, not along the beaten track now so familiar to tourists, and fast ceasing to be distinctively Breton, but among the towns and people seldom touched by outside influences. Illustrations in color and reproductions from photographs help to bring this beautiful section of France before the reader.

Harris, Joel Chandler. The shadow between his shoulder-blades; with il. by G: Harding. Bost., Small, Maynard & Co., [1909.] c. '07. 132 p. D. cl., 90 c. net.

Mr. Billy Sanders tells how he and his friend Wimberly Driscoll rode out to join the Confederates under General Forrest. They crossed the trail of Bushrod Claiborne, a Northern spy who declared he was a loyal Southerner masquerading in the Federal uniform. This man's sinister shadow constantly fell across their path until Wimberley was united with his ladylove and the spy's capture led to a dramatic climax.

Hopper, Ja. Marie. The trimming of Goosie. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909. c. 216 p. D. cl., $1.10 net.

Goosie is a young New York business man, who has the extraordinary experience of growing a large pair of wings like a bird. He and his wife have a dreadful time trying to keep the wings clipped so that he will look like other people. After many humorous trials and tribulations he joins Bison Billiam's show and earns fabulous sums by nightly flying exhibitions.

Houston, Edwin Ja. At school in the Cannibal Islands. Phil., Griffith & Rowland Press, [1909.] c. 412 p. D. (Pacific ser.) cl., †$1.25.

Charley Pleasanton, Harold Harding, Jack Jackson once more are the chief actors in this, the fourth of the Pacific series. They are living on Harding Island, where a school has been established. While their parents are away the boys and their companions are attacked by cannibals and have several exciting encounters with them before they are defeated.

Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission. Official programme Hudson-Fulton celebration, September 25 to October 9, 1909. N. Y., Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, 1909. c. 32 p. il. F. pap., 25 c.

Isham, Frederic Stewart. Half a chance; with il. by Herman Pfeifer. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., [1909.] c. 383 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

John Steele, American born had been the pride of the Golden Gate. He was unjustly convicted of a great crime. The convict ship on which he was being transported was wrecked on a desert island, then came rescue, return to England, pursuit across fog-bound London and the unexpected climax where John Steele rights himself after all his many trials and misunderstandings.

Jameson, J: Franklin, ed. Narratives of New Netherland, 1609-1664; with three maps and a facsimile. N. Y., Scribner, 1909. c. 20+478 p. O. (Original narratives of early American history; ed. by J. Franklin Jameson.) cl., $3 net.

New volume in the series of Original narratives of early American history, which are being reproduced under the auspices of the American Historical Association. There is no one classical narrative history of New Netherlands corresponding to Bradford's or Winthrop's accounts of Plymouth, but in this volume are brought together the best contemporary narratives of the colony between 1609-1664. Of particular interest at this time is the account of Hudson's third voyage, written by Emanuel van Meteren in 1610. Book has several reproductions of quaint old maps. Index.

Johnson, Clifton. The picturesque Hudson; written and il. by Clifton Johnson. N. Y., Macmillan, [1909.] c. 11+227 p. S. (Picturesque river ser.) cl., $1.25 net.

Informal account of a ramble along the Hudson River from its mouth to its source. Points of historic interest are visited and the events recorded which made the places famous.

Kettle, Rosa Mackenzie. The mistress of Langdale Hall; a romance of West Riding. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., 1909. 336 p. front. D. cl., †$1.25.

A romance of the West Riding, Yorkshire, England. The "mistress" takes vengeance upon the man who years before had preferred a penniless girl to herself, the heiress of one of the fairest estates of England. How she carries out her plans shows imagination and resource. Fine descriptions of landscape are part of the story.

Lancaster, F. Hewes. Marie of Arcady; with a front. by Rose O'Neill. Bost., Small, Maynard & Co., [1909.] c. 343 p. D. cl., †$1.25.

Bayou Bienvieu was astonished by the arrival in its midst of a girl running desperately, covered with dust, except for spotlessly clean hands. She is taken in and cared for by the Santerres, whose kindness never stops to think of the difficulty of feeding another mouth when they have so little. The girl's love story and the finding of her uncle make a pretty idyl of Arcadian life.

Lillibridge, W: Otis. The dominant dollar; with 4 il. by Lester Ralph. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 350 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Two men are in love with the same girl, Elice

Gleason, daughter of a professor in the college situated in the small town where the scene is laid. Armstrong, one of the men, is engaged to the girl, but when his novel proves a failure he begins to drink heavily and breaks his engagement. The other suitor, Darley Roberts, is a strong self-made man, who tries to be worthy of Elice in every way, which, according to his ideas, means financially as well as morally. The girl's struggle against a mistaken sense of duty which leads her to believe that she and Roberts must sacrifice their lives to the bolstering up of the weak nature of Armstrong, and her desire for happiness in her own way maks up the story, out of which struggle joy and content are at last won for all.

MacNutt, Francis A: Fernando Cortes and the conquest of Mexico, 1485-1547. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. c. 21+475 p. pors. maps, D. (Heroes of the nations ser.; ed. by E. A. Abbott.) cl., $1.35 net.

Author of "Bartholomew de Las Casas, his life, his Apostolate, and his writings," and translator of the "Letters of Cortes." A brief account is here given of Cortes during the conquest of Mexico. The man is depicted as a hero, but at the same time his cruelty and the other flaws in his character are not glossed over or condoned. He was undoubtedly a great statesman and a great general and Mr. MacNutt has so presented him. Index.

Miller, Ja. R., D.D. The gate beautiful. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1909.] c. 300 p. S. hf. cl., 85 c. net.

Twenty-one sermons, some of the titles being: The gate beautiful; The call to praise: The desires of thy heart; Called to be saints; Guarding our thoughts; What God thinks of us; Christian manliness; Does God care?; Thou shalt know hereafter; The work of the Lord. By the author of "Silent times," "Upper currents," "Making the most of life," etc.

O'Shea, Michael Vincent. Social development and education. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., [1909.] c. 14+561 p. O. cl., $2.

Mr. O'Shea is professor of education in the University of Wisconsin and author of "Education as adjustment," "Dynamic factors in education," "Linguistic development and education," etc. In his preface the author says, "in part I of this volume I have attempted first to describe the typical attitudes which the child tends to assume toward persons with whom he comes in contact in the ordinary situations of daily life, and to explain these attitudes in view of certain fundamental principles of mental development." In part II he has undertaken "certain phases of the difficult and interminable task of outlining a plan and method of education designed to make the individual socially efficient." The fifth of the Sidney books in which Janet Leslie, Day Argyle, her brother Rob, Sidney Stayre, Jack Blanchard and other old friends appear. This time they are all spending the summer in Janet's old home in Quebec during the tri-centennial celebration.

Thomson, J: Stuart. The Chinese; il. from photographs. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., [1909.] c. 441 p. O. cl., *$2.50 net.

Mr. Thomson was in charge of the agency of the Pacific Mail and allied steamship lines at Hong Kong, and his years of residence in China have made him thoroughly familiar with the country. The humor, climate, scenery, daily life, religion, foreign missions, art, agriculture, army, navy, business, law, all the varied industries of life in the Celestial Kingdom, pass in review before the reader. The author treats his subject from the point of view of American influence in the Far East, which he thinks must become dominant.

Ticknor, G: Life, letters and journals of George Ticknor. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., 1909. c. '76. 2 v., 18+524; 8+533 p. pls. pors. facsim., O. cl., $5.

The book was first published in 1876 and has since run through thirteen editions. Ferris Greenslet has written an appreciative and critical introduction to this new edition, and portraits of famous friends of Ticknor's have been introduced. As first professor of belles-lettres at Harvard University and the practical founder of the Boston Public Library, he came in contact with and had the friendship of many of the most eminent people of his time and his letters and journals give vivid pen portraits of them. Indexes.

Watson, H: Brereton Marriott. The castle by the sea; il. by Herman Pfeifer. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1909. c. 312 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Young Mr. Brabazon leases Norroy Castle, the property of Sir Gilbert Norroy, a spendthrift for whom his creditors are searching. All sorts of queer noises are heard at night in the castle, some attributed to ghosts, some to burglars. Brabazon probes the mystery and becomes involved with a pretty girl, the owner of the castle, and one of the creditors who is trying to get possession of the place because of its valuable copper deposits. They have some exciting adventures, one of these being stranded in a series of caves into which the tide is rising. Finally all the clouds are dispersed and the young people are made happy.

Weir, Hugh C. The conquest of the Isthmus; the men who are building the Panama Canal—their daily lives, perils, and adventures. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. c. 13+238 p. pls. fold. map, O. cl., $2 net.

Mr. Weir visited the Isthmus of Panama in order to study the men who are battling with the tremendous commercial and mechanical details and whose side of the story has not been told. We are told constantly of the engineering and financial aspects of the project, but here will be found a picture of the khaki-clad army of peace, many of whom are giving the best years of their lives, and some life itself, to the joining of the Atlantic and the Pacific by this great canal.

Present volume sums up all previous editions of Mr. Winter's poems, and adds a number of new ones from the veteran dramatic critic's pen.

Yates, Katherine Merritte. "Chet"; il. by H. S. De Lay. N. Y., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 345 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The first long story by the author of "By the wayside," "On the way there." "Chet," a fun-loving, healthy boy, hears that his parents are going to take a little girl to care for while her parents travel. He flies to tell his favorite girl companion and they both deplore the breaking-up of their companionship, and spend the time in comforting each other and improving themselves by each other's help. A great surprise comes to them with the little girl. All the author's stories are of Christian Science tendency.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 25, 1909.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog." and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FALL OUTLOOK.

THE year 1909, begun so auspiciously in January, promises to end in December with a blaze of prosperity in its wake. As we pointed out at the turn of the first half of the year, the six months that then were drawing to a close were full of profit to the booktrade and of promise as to the future. And the promise, according to all reports, is almost certain of realization. Indeed, the outlook for the fall and holiday trade is full of hope. The bookseller, encouraged by the upward trend of business in general and by the splendid reports of the crops, the resumption of manufactures, etc., has been more liberal in making purchases than ever, though the delivery of his goods is deferred more and more and is subject to more conditions than ever—which keeps the publisher, especially the one with the smaller lines, on the edge of nervous prostration in the fear of cancellation and repudiation of orders. However, the feeling throughout the country is optimistic, and there seems to be every reason to believe that the year 1909 will be a banner year so far as the booktrade is concerned. The bookseller who unwisely withholds his orders now may find himself blocked by the inrush of orders later on.

The publisher seems to have been encouraged as never before to swell the output of books—almost to the breaking point, it would seem—and certainly to the disadvantage of the marketing of the more modest of his wares, whose appeal, however worthy, will be drowned in the babel of the noise made by the more pretentious and perhaps less meritorious of his productions, thus adding year by year to the number of those "left-overs" which, because they are permitted to encumber the lists of the publishers at "bargain" prices, that is, because they become food for the chopping blocks of the undersellers, become a real menace to the bookseller. That much of this could be avoided is so patent that it is a wonder that publishers persist in bringing out books at times when every one concerned might know that they can find no market for them and when the publishing of them is equivalent to burying them in oblivion.

The lists of the publishers fairly bristle with good things in the department of Biography—such names as John Bigelow, Lecky, Richard Jefferies, Lord Kelvin, Sheridan, Grover Cleveland, Stephen A. Douglas, Bach, Verlaine and others being in the front rank.

History ranks second, with important works by Dr. Biagi, Prince Kropotkin, Houston Stewart Chamberlain, Jessie White Mario, George M. Trevelyan and others equally well known. In the department of Literature the Journals of Ralph Waldo Emerson are promised, with works by Dr. Henry van Dyke, Professor Barrett Wendell, Richard Watson Gilder, Professor Richard Barton, Professor Mahaffy, Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson, and many others.

Fiction will be represented by De Morgan's new story, and books by H. G. Wells, Maurice Hewlett, Robert Herrick, Robert W. Chambers, F. Marion Crawford, to name but a few.

Poetry will also be fairly well represented, and Travel, with all the new discoveries recently heralded, will not rank among the least, though the stories of the great arctic explorers will be rather stale reading when they appear in book form.

With a future so bright, backed by so much that is distinctive and meritorious in the announcements of the publishers, the bookseller should be able to give a good report of himself when his accounts are balanced three months hence. Though the secret of inducing every citizen of this country to buy books suited to his needs has not yet been uncovered, there are enough bookbuyers among us to make the book business worth while, and that should be comfort enough for the present and keep the bookseller digging for the fabled treasure.

THE IRON AGE CHANGES HANDS.

THE properties of the David Williams Company, of New York—The Iron Age, one of the most widely known trade publications in the United States, The Metal Worker, Carpentry and Building, etc.—have passed into the hands of a group of publishers headed by Charles T. Root, head of the Root Newspaper Association. Among others in the deal are Charles G. Phillips, I. A. Mekeel, and William H. Taylor. Although most of the men having a part in the new ownership of the publications are associated in business with the Root interests, it is announced that the Root Newspaper Association will have nothing to do with publishing the Williams papers, but that they will be issued entirely independently as heretofore.

This sale is a most important one in trade journalism. For more than half a century The Iron Age has been the leading publication of the iron and steel industry, with which it practically grew up. The paper was founded at Middletown, N. Y., by John Williams, under the name of The Hardware Man's Newspaper, which was changed in 1859 to The Iron Age. In 1868, David Williams, his son, who had been connected with the enterprise from the start and has been the owner since then, purchased the property. The headquarters of the journal were transferred to New York City in 1864. In the earlier days there were associated with David Williams the late John S. King, Dr. James C. Bayles and Strickland K. Marks.

The standard of the paper will be maintained along the same lines heretofore followed. Charles T. Root, head of the Root Newspaper Association, the publishers of The Dry Goods Economist, and several other trade publications, announces that no change whatever is contemplated, either in the staff, policy, or methods of the publication.

Charles Kirchhoff, who has been associated with the paper for thirty-two years, and has been editor for many years, is to remain with the paper, as are also George W. Cope and A. I. Findley, associate editors.

Negotiations for the sale of the papers were conducted by the Harris-Dibble Company, New York, and the price was said to be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

COLONEL HARVEY OF HARPER'S HURT.

COLONEL GEORGE HARVEY, President of Harper & Brothers, editor of Harper's Weekly and of The North American Review, was severely injured by his automobile turning turtle on September 18, near Barnegat, N. J. An X-ray examination made at Colonel Harvey's home at Deal revealed three fractures of his left shoulder. Although his chest was also crushed under the car and is severely contused, making respiration difficult, the physicians say that while there is no serious danger, they declare that a protracted period of suffering confronts Colonel Harvey.

BEST-SELLING BOOKS IN ENGLAND DURING AUGUST.

AUGUST, according to the London Book Monthly, "is coming more to be the month which starts the autumn publishing season, and quite a fair number of new books have appeared, mostly, not all, fiction. The term 'best sellers' is comparative in August, but perhaps the six volumes to which it would apply have been these:

The White Prophet. Hall Caine. Heinemann.

True Tilda. O. Arrowsmith.

Love, the thief. Helen Mathers. Stanley Paul.
The last novel this author meant to write.

Shakespeare. A. C. Swinburne. Frowde.
An essay written in 1908 and now first published.

A Wanderer in Paris. E. V. Lucas. Methuen.

George Bernard Shaw. Gilbert K. Chesterton. Lane.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ROBERT HOE, the third of the name, head of R. Hoe & Co., printing press manufacturers of New York and London, died in London on September 22, aged seventy. Mr. Hoe was born in New York in 1839. After graduating from the public school he entered the business of his father and grandfather—shortly after his uncle, Richard M. Hoe, had perfected the "Hoe cylinder," the predecessor of the present double sextuple and octuple presses, then considered such a marvel in facilitating rapid printing that it was called the "lightning" press. Upon the death of Colonel Richard M. Hoe, in 1884, Peter Smith Hoe, his brother, retired from the firm, and Robert, his son, became head of the establishment. As in the case of those who had preceded him, his interest was largely centred in the mechanical side of the printing business, and even in the latter years of his life he continued to spend much of his time in the machine shops. To him are due many of the most important features of the great printing presses of to-day. One of the more recent, and perhaps the most important, invention for which Mr. Hoe was responsible related to the art of printing in colors. Combined with the inventive genius of his predecessors, he had administrative ability, and a faculty of surrounding himself with capable men, and it was these qualities that contributed in no small measure to the growth of Hoe & Co.—now the largest makers of printing presses in the world. Although displaying intense devotion to business, he found time to gratify his hobby for collecting rare books, many of them dealing with the history and development of printing. He had valuable specimens of early printing, and his collection of books by early authors is regarded as one of the finest in the country. A few years ago, a catalogue was printed containing a list of the volumes he owned which were written by English authors before the year 1700. The catalogue filled altogether five or six volumes. There was an attempt to present a complete picture of each book and to account for the whole of the contents of each in a thorough, methodical way. Mr. Hoe also wrote several works, for the most part dealing with printing. Among them is a history of the development of the printing press from the time of Gutenberg down to the present day. This book contains many interesting illustrations showing successive stages in the development of the modern press.

WILL L. THOMPSON, a well-known writer of hymns, died in the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City, on September 20. Mr. Thompson was born in Beaver County, Pa., November 7, 1847. He received his musical education in Boston and in Leipzig. His best-known hymns are: "Drifting with the Tide," "Softly and Tenderly, Jesus is Calling," "Come Where the Lilies Bloom" and "Moonlight Will Come Again." He compiled among a dozen other books the "New Century Hymnal," (1905,) in two volumes.

PERSONAL NOTES.

H. A. BEEBE, of the Edward P. Judd Co., New Haven, Conn., has gone to Germany in the interests of his firm.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WATSON COLE, start for the Pacific Coast next week to spend the winter—possibly to be gone six months and longer.

ALEXANDER M. LEVY has severed his connection with the Espenham & Co. department store of Milwaukee, to become buyer and manager of the book and stationery departments of the D. G. Jones Company, of Kansas City, Mo.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

KERAMIC STUDIO PUBLISHING COMPANY, Syracuse, N. Y., have a line of magazines and books that are practical helps for the china painter and potter, for the student of oil and water colors and of the crafts.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE has donated to the New York Stationers' Bowling League a trophy in the form of a silver cup to be known as The Stationers' Board of Trade Cup, and to be contested for by the Bowling League.

Travel and Exploration, the magazine published by Witherby & Co., of London, in its September issue gives an interesting account by Major P. M. Sykes, of "A Pilgrimage to the Tom of Omar Khayyam"—at Nishapur—with several illustrations.

OWING to the increasing demand for "Margarita's Soul," John Lane Company have been forced to postpone the date of publication from September 15 to October 8. The first edition is oversold, the second edition is almost exhausted, and the third edition is now on the press. All orders, however, will be filled by the date of publication, October 8.

BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have brought out Frederick S. Isham's "Half a Chance," illustrated by Herman Pfeiffer, the story of a man who has been the pride of the Golden Gate, but is convicted of a great crime, wrecked in the convict ship, stranded on a desert island and finally is rescued and returns to England to right himself in the climax of a thrilling story.

DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York City, have recently issued a new volume of poems by Edmund Vance Cooke—"the poet of Nineteen Hundred and—Now," which is what he likes to be called. His latest volume, "Little Songs for Two," strikes a somewhat different note from that which characterizes his previous work, containing fifty or more dainty lyrics, of various lengths, in which the theme is love, and the treatment tender and sympathetic.

THE HENRY ALTEMUS COMPANY will publish at once the third volume of their Motor Boat Series, dealing with "The Motor Club of Long Island, or, a Daring Marine Game at Racing Speed." H. Irving Hancock is the author of these readable tales. They have in preparation a new story by Albert Bigelow Paine, entitled "Elsie and the Arkansaw Bear." As may be inferred by the title, this is a sequel to Mr. Paine's successful story on the same general subject.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO. will publish at once a story by Norman Innes, entitled "The Lonely Guard." The scene is laid in Austria and one of the smaller German principalities, and the action is full of adventure and romance. They have in hand for issue before the end of the month a realistic story of everyday life for children, "The Land of Really True," by Millicent Olmsted, whose "Land of Never Was" of last season will be pleasantly remembered by purchasers of juvenile literature. The new book will be illustrated in colors.

PRESIDENT TAFT has taken with him on his Western trip a reminder of his vacation days at golf, for at the Chamber of Commerce dinner in Boston last week he was presented with an advance copy of "The New Golfer's Almanac," specially bound for him in full leather with his initials on the cover. This little book, just published by Houghton Mifflin Co., was compiled by William Leavitt Stoddard, and with its amusing silhouette illustrations, is likely to prove one of the most popular little gift-books of the present season.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY publish to-day "Wigwam Evenings," by Dr. Charles A. Eastman, probably the greatest living authority on Indian folk-lore and traditions and himself a Sioux Indian whose first name was Ohiyesa and who first heard all these old, old stories from his Sioux grandmother; "Your Child and Mine," by Anna Warner; "The Girls of Fairmount," by Etta Anthony Baker, a story of boaarding-school life; and "Betty Blair's Golden Year," by Anna Hamlin Weikel, the closing volume of a series for girls that has been very popular

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued Hamlin Garland's eagerly expected book, "The Moccasin Ranch;" "Northern Lights," a timely book by Gilbert Parker; "The Silver Horde," by Rex Beach, which has made a great success during its publication in Hampton's Magazine; "Boy Life: Stories and Readings from Howell's," selections from W. D. Howells, arranged for supplementary reading in elementary schools by Percival Chubb, of the Ethical Culture School, New York City; and a new volume in Harper's Young People's Series, entitled "Boys on the Railroad."

GROSSET & DUNLAP, last fall, published a very large edition of Edward Salisbury Fields's "Six Cylinder Courtships," a delightful automobile story most daintily gotten up as a holiday book. The sale far exceeded the most optimistic expectations and the trade kept on demanding far more than could be supplied. The publishers let the book remain out of print for nine months, and now will again bring out a large edition for the holidays, and advise their customers not to run short again on this clever automobile story now that all the world rides in an "auto."

B. HERDER, St. Louis, Mo., has just published "The Necromancers," by Robert Hugh Benson; "Giannella," by Mrs. Hugh Fraser, (sister of the late J. Marion Crawford;) "The Mystery of Naples," by E. P. Graham; "The Life of Christ," by Mary Virginia Merrick, also, "The Life of Father Colin." Mr. Herder will publish shortly "A Life of Christ for Children," by Mary Virginia Merrick; "Theology of the Sacraments," by Pourrat; "What Think You of Christ," by Bernard J. Otten; "Sermons for the Christian Year," in three volumes, by Dom Wilfrid Wallace; also, "The Papacy and the First Councils of the Church," by T. J. Dolan.

B. W. HUEBSCH, New York City, will issue in rapid succession during the fall "The Dragnet," by Evelyn S. Barnett, a tale of a fight against a trust and of detective skill in a case of murder; "Back to Hampton Roads," by Franklin Matthews, a sequel to "With the Battle Fleet;" "The Commonwealth of Man," by the eminent leader, philologist and economist, Nathaniel Schmidt; "The Substance of Socialism," by John Spargo, who clearly explains the moral basis on which the movement rests; and a translation by Edith C. Harvey of Edward Bernstein's "Evolutionary Socialism," which has been one of the epoch-making books in socialist literature.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just ready "A History of Christianity in Japan," by Dr. Otis Cary, brought out in two volumes to commemorate the completion of the first half century of Protestant Missions in Japan; "The Missionary Manifesto," by Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, so well known by his many visits to this country; "The Immigrant Tide: Its Ebb and Flow," by Professor Steiner, the result of the work of the deputation of students sent to Europe by the Y. M. C. A. of Pennsylvania to study the conditions; "From My Youth Up," a volume of personal reminiscences by Margaret E. Sangster; and "Just Boys," by Mary Buell Wood, giving quite a picture of the pranks and deviltries of choir boys.

HURST & COMPANY call the attention of the trade to their "Complete Catalogue and Order List for 1909," a perusal of which, they think, would stimulate the jaded bookseller quite as much as an ocean voyage acts as a tonic to the man in need of rest. Their list this year is the strongest and most comprehensive one they have ever issued both as to quantity and quality. Old plates have been weeded out and replaced with plates made from new type; the bindings have been improved and made more attractive all along the line; better paper has been used; many new titles have been added, and prices, as usual, have been made as low as the art of manufacture has permitted. The catalogue will be found a budget of surprises.

GILBERT K. CHESTERTON's book on "George Bernard Shaw," which is published this week (September 24) by John Lane Company, is more than a biography of an extraordinary man by an extraordinary biographer. The book is full of Mr. Chesterton's own philosophy and his delicious points of view which made "Orthodoxy" and "Heretics" so popular. As a foreword to his book Mr. Chesterton explains his position clearly. "Most people," he writes, "either say that they agree with Bernard Shaw or they do not understand him. I am the only person who understands him, and I do not agree with him." To which Mr. Shaw has replied with equal spirit: "It is a fascinating portrait study and I am proud to have been the painter's model."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just received the final chapters of "The Boys' Book of Airships," from Harry Delacombe, the author. This book was held from press as long as possible in order to get in the very latest information and includes accounts of the Zeppelin derigible and the Wright, Curtis, Farman, Bleriot, Antoinette and other aeroplanes as they appeared at the international contests at Rheims. The book is a large octavo and deals fully with the history of aerial navigation in all its forms, and while simply written, it is practical in detail. The author, having been in the British Army, became much interested in the subject. He is now a specialist in it and has a personal acquaintance with most of the leading inventors.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have just brought out "The Bretons at Home," by Frances M. Gostling, who has caught the true spirit of the quaint life of Brittany and tells some of its supernatural legends with rare insight; also, "Letters from France and Italy," by Arthur Guthrie, who started from the Firth of Clyde in 1906 to take the trip he describes so pleasantly, which took him to all the noted places so often visited by travellers. They have also ready a story of mystery for boys and girls called "The House on the North Shore," in which Marion Foster Washburne relates the adventures of Bob and his sister Beth, and tells of the dark problem their parents had to face, while the scene shifts from the shores of Lake Michigan to the open country of Wyoming.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish about the middle of October a book of unusual interest in Peter MacQueen's "In Wildest Africa," illustrated by Peter Dutkewich, hardly less of a pioneer traveller than Mr. MacQueen, and a photographer of the primitive absolutely unexcelled in his art. To the many who have heard Mr. MacQueen's lectures on Africa, or who have seen any of his magazine articles illustrated so beautifully by Mr. Dutkewitch's views of mountain grandeur, the white power of the headwaters of the Nile or the groups of natives, perfect in their bodily development, it has come as a revelation that Africa is no longer the Dark Continent, per se, but, as Mr. MacQueen says of equatorial Africa, "it allures and repels: it is as beautiful as an opium dream, baneful as nightshade."

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just ready the third volume of the "Political History of the State of New York," by the Hon De Alva Stanwood Alexander, who carries the work down to 1882. Covering from 1861 to 1882 this volume deals with the war between the states, reconstruction, the Tweed episode and the canal "rings," and has among its vital figures Horatio Seymour, Thurlow Weed, Horace Greeley, Samuel J. Tilden, Roscoe Conklin and Grover Cleveland, with whose great victory the work closes. Other books almost ready are: "Logic," by Professor Adam L. Jones, of Princeton University; "Poe's Critical Writings," edited by Professor Prescott, of Cornell University; "The Short Story in English," by Professor Henry Seidal Canby, of Yale; and a new text-book of "Æsthetics," by Miss Kate Gordon, which takes a thoroughly modern and scientific point of view.

LAIRD & LEE, who make a specialty of dictionaries and other reference books, have a long line of "Webster's New Standard Dictionaries" for home, school and general use, kept up to date in their various distinguishing characteristics. "The Webster's New Standard Dictionary" has just had an addition of 300 recent words pertaining to the latest discoveries in the arts and sciences. They have also dictionaries for everybody, and works of reference for the pocket that should enable everyone of every interest to settle every question that comes up in work or general conversation. There are all kinds of vest-pocket combination language dictionaries—English-French, English-Italian, English-Spanish, English-German, etc.; and then follow "Standard Guide for Locomotive Engineers and Firemen," "Little-Giant Vest-Pocket Question Settler," "Practical Compound of Electricity," "The Date Finder," "Diary and Time Saver," etc.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will bring out before the end of the month: "The Garden Week by Week," by Walter P. Wright; "Men, the Workers," by Henry Demarest Lloyd; "Auxiliary Education," by Professor B. Maennel; "The Book of Famous Seiges," by Tudor Jenks; "Anatole France," by George Brandes; "The Golden Season," by Myra Kelly; "As Old as the Moon," by Florence J. Stoddard; "A Court of Inquiry," by Grace Richmond; "Yucatan, the American Egypt," by Channing Arnold and Fred J. Frost; "Daphne in Fitzroy Street," by E. Nesbit; "Tales of Wonder," by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Nora Archibald Smith, in the Crimson Classics; "The Southerner," being the autobiographical tale of Nicholas Worth; "Just for Two," by Mary Stewart Cutting; "Piano Answers," by Josef Hoffman; "The Land of the Lion," by W. S. Rainsford; "Upbuilders," by Lincoln Steffens; "Putting on the Screws," by Gouveneur Morris; and "The Thin Santa Claus," by Ellis Parker Butler.

LAMB PUBLISHING Co., New York City, one of the largest jobbers of sets in the United States, have put special strength into two works that will make wonderfully paying holiday propositions. Professor Sloane's "Life of Napoleon," formerly published by the Century Co., is a peculiarly attractive book proposition, gotten up as it is in four dignified quarto volumes in library style and in various bindings, with a large number of illustrations, full-page and others, at a price that will be satisfactory to the trade and the public. The publishers recently made an effective and convincing display of the set in Brentano's window in New York, which they will duplicate in other cities where there may be a demand for it. The other proposition referred to is an edition of Oscar Wilde's "Complete Works," in fifteen volumes, with sixty etchings which they offer at a price so low that they will surely find a new market. About two hundred sets of standards are on the list of this house, and the style of their manufacture and the price make them quite irresistible.

MITCHELL KENNERLEY will publish at once a work by Van Wyck Brooks, entitled "The Wine of the Puritans, a Study of Present Day America," which when brought out in London this spring received extraordinary praise. For example, The Tattler called it "A brilliant study, singularly candid and penetrating," and there was general agreement that the origin and significance of modern tendencies in the United States had been traced by Mr. Brooks with striking ability and insight. The critics seem to have been specially attracted by the author's style and unbiased attitude. They treated the book very seriously, and asserted that it furnished the key to the American character and probed to the heart of American characteristics. It will be interesting, therefore, to see how Mr. Brooks's little volume is received in this country. Mr. Kennerley will publish at the same time a new volume of poems by John G. Neihardt, whose "A Bundle of Myrrh" was widely discussed two years ago. The title of the new volume is "Man-Song." The cover design, a striking study of two figures, is from a work in sculpture by the poet's wife.

B. W. DODGE & Co. have in preparation a volume by Anna Steese Richardson, entitled "The Girl Who Earns Her Own Living." The author for the last ten years has conducted a department for working girls in one of the leading women's magazines, and in her work has been the recipient of communications, numbering many thousands, from girls seeking employment. To answer these communications intelligently, Mrs. Richardson has made inquiries among employers, agents and workers. The results of her investigations, experience, and correspondence have been incorporated in this book, which aims to show the inexperienced girl and her parents just what each of eighteen popular avenues of money-making leads to, and what it requires of one who would undertake the work. Another book which they will shortly issue bears the title "The Autobiography of Methuselah," in which the writer sets down his reminiscences, among other things, of his great-grandsons, Shem, Ham, and Japhet, and gives his opinions on such subjects as woman suffrage, child culture, and trust baiting. The book is edited by John Kendrick Bangs, and contains numerous illustrations by Mr. Cooper.

George H. Doran Company, 35 West Thirty-second Street, New York, that represent Hodder & Stoughton, of London, whose entry into the ranks of American publishers we greet with pleasure, are pushing Arnold Bennett's novel, "The Old Wives' Tale," of which Dr. W. Robertson says in The British Weekly, "There is no book in the fiction of recent years that I should rank as equal to it . . . the story is a masterpiece and only lacks a touch of poetry to put it into the front rank"; "Treasure Valley, a tale of the Oro," by Marion Keith, author of "Duncan Polite," etc., in which the author arrives at her best in producing a novel full of power and pathos filled with subtle humor. They are offering several series of unusual attractiveness both as to text and illustration, among which are six of L. T. Meade's books for girls—"That Brilliant Peggy," "The Girl and Her Fortune," "The Lady of Delights," "Sarah's Mother," "Hetty Beresford," and "Loveday," and A Day with the Poets Series, six dainty books of selections from Tennyson, Browning, Burns, Keats, Longfellow and Wordsworth. For young people they have an irresistibly funny dog book, "Pickles," by Cecil Aldin, which is bound to hold the attention of young people of all ages; a new edition of "Little Peter, a Christmas Morality of Children of Any Age," by Lucas Malet, with pictures in colors by Charles E. Brock; The Children's Bookcase, four favorite nursery story books retold by E. Nesbitt, Agnes Frozier Herbertson, Frances Browne, and Charles Kingsley, edited by E. Nesbitt, with charming illustrations in color, and a number of other series all attractively gotten up with colored illustrations at a surprisingly low price.

Hills & Hafely Co. have prepared for the coming year nine literary booklet calendars that will also prove attractive reminders of the holiday season. They are neatly and artistically printed on superior paper and daintily bound in suitable artistic bindings, each having a pocket inside the cover for the insertion of the sender's visiting card. The line includes "The Garden Lovers' Calendar," containing appropriate quotations from Paradisi in Sole, by John Parkinson, published in 1629; "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" in English verse by Edward Fitzgerald, with calendar for 1910; "Stepping Stones," a Daily Engagement Calendar with extracts from the poets; "The Keble Calendar," containing quotations from the poems and writings of the late Rev. John Keble, D.D., compiled by J. S. Mackarness; "The Book Lovers' Kalendar," containing appropriate poems and quotations from various sources, compiled by Alfred H. Miles; "Music Lovers' Calendar," giving dates of birth and death of celebrated musicians, with excerpts from compositions of well-known composers; "In Thought and Deed," a Kalendar for 1910, compiled by Alfred H. Miles, on quite an original plan, an attribute of character, being selected for each month, illustrated by quotations from the sayings or writings of a great man typical of such virtue; "The Shakespeare Year Book," a calendar of "Days" and "Nights," compiled by J. R. Tutin; also "Lest We Forget," a Calendar compiled by Daisy Finch, containing Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional," together with extracts from the speeches and writings of well-known statesmen and authors. Each calendar also contains a supplement of useful information with space for daily notes, etc.

Dodd, Mead & Co. publish on September 25 a brilliant story entitled "The Title Market," by Emily Post, author of "Purple and Fine Linen," etc., who answers the question, What kind of life does a girl from Fifth Avenue find when she marries a duke, or a prince, and goes abroad to live in a palace? Would she be happier had she stayed at home?; "The Man in the Corner," by Baroness Orczy, author of "The Scarlet Pimpernell," etc., in which "The Old Man in the Corner," a sort of a Sherlock Holmes, tells of a series of mysterious crimes which are finally solved by his wonderful inductive method of reasoning; a new and cheaper edition of "Memoirs of an American Lady," by Mrs. Anne Grant; and two books for young people—"Marjorie's New Friend," by Carolyn Wells, which will delight the readers of this author's first two books in this series when Marjory was on her vacation and when she had "busy days;" also, "A Little Girl in Old Pittsburgh," by Amanda M. Douglas, who knows how to turn the study of history into a pleasant occupation. They will publish early in October a new edition of James Grant Wilson's "Thackeray in the United States." It will be remembered that several years ago Dodd, Mead & Company issued an elaborate two-volume edition of this work, which was entirely sold out. The popularity of the book seemed to call for a new edition, and it has therefore been decided to have this new edition, but made along somewhat less expensive lines. The result is exactly the same matter as in the more expensive edition, with the exception of the bibliography, which was made as an appendix in the original edition. In addition the new edition will have six hitherto unpublished portraits of Thackeray, which will doubtless lend much additional value from the collector's point of view.

One of the most interesting publications in connection with the Hudson-Fulton Celebration is a pamphlet just issued by the Free Public Library of Jersey City, N. J., entitled "Sail and Steam, an historical sketch showing New Jersey's connection with the events commemorated by the Hudson-Fulton Celebration," gotten up to show the important part New Jersey has taken in these events. The pamphlet is an interesting souvenir of the celebration and is an interesting contribution to New Jersey historical literature, as many curious and little known incidents of local history are recorded. A sketch is given of Hudson's voyage and of the Hudson River; but the greater portion of the pamphlet is devoted to the history of early steam navigation and many interesting and out of the way facts are noted. Special attention is given to New Jersey's share in these events and many papers are devoted to this, including an account of the inventions of Colonel John Stevens, of Hoboken; the history of the first steam ferry, and many other little-known details in the history of these subjects. Attention is called to the fact that Fulton's workshops were in Jersey City and much of his early machinery was made there, and that the Clermont made many trips from Jersey City. Especially interesting is the history of Fulton's steamboat monopoly and the long fight which resulted in its overthrow. This is a chapter of New Jersey history of which the majority of people know very little, but it was an incident of far-reaching importance. The pamphlet is gotten up in very attractive manner. One of the most interesting features are the illustrations, which are reproductions from old prints in the possession of the Library. The pamphlet will be distributed free and copies may be obtained on application to the Free Public Library of Jersey City.

H. M. Caldwell Co. have just published a volume of golf verse entitled "Fore! the Call of the Links," by W. Hastings Webling—the author's first completed work, although he is widely known as a contributor to golf and other periodicals; "Widow's Wisdom," by Ninon Traver Fleckenstein, a book of original and clever epigrams, aphorisms, etc.; "When I Was a Baby," by Helen P. Strong, a mother's record book illuminated; a third and new edition of "Across Panama and Around the Caribbean," containing much additional matter and giving a history of the progress of the Panama Canal to date; "The Real God," "The Subconscious Mind," "The Power of Suggestion," "Mind and Body," "Man's Undeveloped Powers," "The Supreme Victory," and "The Rebirth of Religion," by J. Herman Randall, completing the New Philosophy of Life series, stirring essays on the religious and scientific principles underlying the "New Thought" movement; "A Year Book of English Authors," by Ida Scott Taylor; "A Year Book of American Authors," by the same author; and "Round the Year with the Poets," by Martha Capps-Oliver, all useful and helpful books compiled with great care. The "Wallace Gallery" is the new volume added to their Great Galleries of Europe series. There are sixty-four illustrations selected from this the greatest private collection of masterpieces in art in the world. "Poems from Punch," in two volumes, with an introduction by Sir Francis Burnand and Arthur Waugh, is another acceptable addition to their series of gift books. They will publish this week the new volume in their Value Series, entitled "The Value of Happiness," by Mary Minerva Barrows, author of "The Value of Cheerfulness," etc., with an introduction by Margaret Sangster; "A Smoker's Reveries," by Joseph Knight, the well-known compiler of "Pipe and Pouch," an entirely new collection of tobacco verse, many of which are original and written for the volume by well-known men at Mr. Knight's request; "Through the Heart of Tibet," by Alexander Macdonald, author of "The White Trail," etc., which deals with a secret expedition to the Holy City in the heart of Tibet; "The Rival Treasure Hunters," by Robert Macdonald, the adventures of some explorers near the debatable Venezuelin frontier; "Aucassin and Nicolette," with an introduction and original poem by the late Edmund Clarence Stedman; "John Bargreave's Gold," by Captain F. S. Brereton, the adventures of a Rhodes scholarship boy around and about Panama which should appeal to the heart of any boy; "A Hero of Sedan," also by Captain Brereton, a tale of the Franco-Prussian war; " Bright Wits, the Prince of Magadore," a new juvenile by Burren Loughlin and L. L. Flood, a distinct novelty suggested by the "craze" for jig-saw puzzles, the text of which is accompanied by a series of puzzles printed in colors, which, at the back of the book, are reproduced in black and white so that the reader may detach and work out the problems; "Babes and Blossoms," a delightful, instructive and amusing juvenile with over sixty illustrations, the babes of which are associated with flowers, the name of the flowers having to be guessed from the key given by the rhyme; "Three Jovial Puppies: a Book of Pictures and Rhymes," with thirty-two colored pictures by J. A. Shepherd and rhymes by E. D. Cuming, an original and unique work bound in Japanese style; also, "In the Fairy Ring," by Florence Harrison, the author of a "Rhyme of a Run," with twenty-four beautiful colored plates and many black and white drawings, an elaborate book for children.

BOOKS OF RARE BEAUTY and WORTH

STOKES' AUT

The Gift Book of the Year

GIRLS OF TO-DAY

By CLARENCE F. UNDERWOOD

This is the first representative collection of the work of the creator of "The Problem of Income." It is an extraordinarily handsome book produced at unusual expense, picturing some of the prettiest American girls ever presented. The volume contains 23 pages in full color, 49 in black-and-white and 23 marginal pictures, with a fine selection of appropriate verse. We confidently recommend this book for Christmas trade and predict large sales where good displays are given.

WAGNER'S TRISTAN AND ISOLDE

Metrical translation by RICHARD LE GALLIENNE. Critique by EDWARD ZIEGLER. Color pictures by GEORGE ALFRED WILLIAMS. A superb volume of great interest to admirers of Wagner's famous love opera. It is a royal piece of bookmaking in the elaborate gilt cover, beautiful type pages with decorative borders, and the superlative color paintings.

Large 4to, cloth, gilt top, boxed, $6.00 net.

DRAKE: An English Epic

By ALFRED NOYES

This volume of poetry will sell in large numbers because of the compelling interest of the story of Drake and his gallant sea fights, as well as for the beauty of the poetry. It will attract boys and girls who love exciting narrative in addition to lovers of good verse.

Cloth, 8vo, 8 illustrations, $1.50 net.

THE FLUTE OF THE GODS

By MARAH ELLIS RYAN

The author of "Told in the Hills" and "For the Soul of Rafael" has in this novel surpassed her own best work. It is a soul-stirring romance, full of exciting situations, and has been pronounced by an eminent scholar as the most truthful Indian novel ever written. The 24 photogravures are from photographs taken especially for the book by EDWARD S. CURTIS, acknowledged the greatest photographer of Indians in the world.

8vo, cloth, $1.50 net.

Autograph edition, ¾ morocco, boxed, $5.00 net.

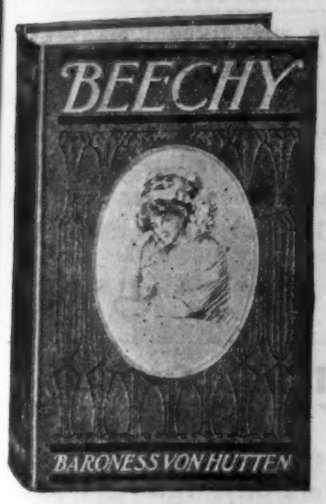
BEECHY

By BETTINA VON HUTTEN

Author of "Pam," "Our Lady of the Beeches," etc.



This is the longest, and in our opinion, the best novel yet written by the author of "PAM." The chief character is a grand opera singer of glorious and delightful personality, whose wonderful career is told in a way to beguile the most blasé novel reader.

12mo, cloth, frontispiece in colors, $1.50.

CARDILLAC

By ROBERT BARR

Author of "Tekla," "Over the Border," etc.

Not since "TEKLA" has Mr. Barr written such a rattling good story of love and adventure with real flesh and blood characters. The plot is ingenious and it is told with cleverness. The scene is France of Louis XIII.

12mo, cloth, frontispiece in colors, $1.50.

THE NEST OF THE SPARROWHAWK

By BARONESS ORCZY

The times of Oliver Cromwell, of Roundhead and Cavalier, are dear to every lover of liberty and to every reader of romance from Sir Walter Scott's time to our own. The author of "The Scarlet Pimpernel" has, with those times as a setting, told an absorbing story of intrigue and love that holds a reader firmly in its grip.

12mo, cloth, $1.50

EMILY FOX-SETON

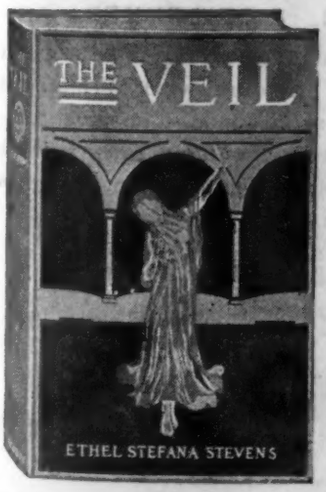
By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT

This volume contains "The Making of a Marchioness," and "The Methods of Lady Walderhurst," presented as a continuous novel. These stories should be read in succession as one story, just as they were issued in England. Mrs Burnett's wonderful dramatic power and her portrayal of thrilling situations, which made "The Shuttle" such a great success, are notably displayed in this fine story.

12mo, cloth, 8 illustrations, $1.50.

THE VEIL

By ETHEL STEFANA STEVENS



A novel that tingles with mystery and throbs with passion; that offers an insight into Arab life and nature and does for Tunis what "The Garden of Allah" did for the great desert. It is the success of the year in England.

12mo, cloth, $1.50.

THE GREATER POWER

By HAROLD BINDLOSS

The only Bindloss book of the Autumn—the most satisfying novel yet written by the author of "Alton of Somasco." It is the story of the making of a man, through the power of love, in the great Western forests.

12mo, cloth, frontispiece in colors, $1.30 net.

Newly Published Books

THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER. By JAMES EDWARD ROGERS.

This book is an intimate study of the American newspaper, and a reply to certain severe criticisms that have recently been made. The author has tried as far as possible to see both sides of the question, the subject of discussion being treated as one of concrete fact, and he has therefore examined some fifteen thousand newspapers from all sections of the country as a means of getting acquaintance with the necessary basis for an accurate judgment. The book discusses in succession the following topics: The Historical Evolution of the Modern Newspaper; The City and the Newspaper; The Nature of the American Newspaper; The Influence of the American Newspaper, and the Causes of that Influence. 228 pages, 12mo, cloth, net, $1.00; postpaid, $1.10.

ENGLISH POEMS. The Elizabethan Age and the Puritan Period. By WALTER C. BRONSON.

So favorable has been the reception accorded "The Nineteenth Century" and "The Restoration and the Eighteenth Century" that the present volume needs little introduction. It follows the same general plan as its predecessors, with the added advantage of an especially fascinating field—the most spontaneous and exuberant period of English poetry. The notes contain elucidations of difficult passages and illuminating commentary—the index and bibliography are unusually elaborate and detailed. 550 pages, 12mo, cloth; Library Edition, net, $1.50; postpaid, $1.66; School Edition, net, $1.00; postpaid, $1.15.

THE ARMENIAN AWAKENING. By LEON ARPEE.

This book will be found singularly interesting and appropriate in the light of the occurrences of the past few years. Beginning with the "Dark Ages" of Armenian history, the author traces the religious attitude and the struggles of this people from the time of the introduction of Christianity. It is a matter of common knowledge to all who are familiar with the Armenian struggle for religious freedom, that political forces have been a strong factor in the persecution to which this people has been periodically subjected. All the side-lights which the condition of European politics could throw on the situation have been employed by the author, and his sympathetic treatment leaves the reader with a clear understanding of the various motives for the frequent outbreaks against the Armenians which have aroused the Christian world. 240 pages, 12mo, cloth, net, $1.25; postpaid, $1.36.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF PRAYER. By ANNA LOUISE STRONG.

A systematic investigation from the point of view of modern psychology of the mental processes involved in prayer. Prayer is described as the result of the "conflict between different selves." This conflict in turn is eliminated by the prayer process. Numerous examples from actual observation of children add vividness to the work, which has a deep philosophic interest and throws light on present-day religious problems. 125 pages, 12mo, cloth, net, 75 cents; postpaid, 83 cents.

THE SYNTAX OF HIGH SCHOOL LATIN. Statistics and Selected Examples Arranged Under Grammatical Headings by Fifty Collaborators. Edited By LEE BYRNE.

The need for selection in the high-school course in Latin has induced a number of successful teachers to make this compilation. With its aid a teacher will be enabled to emphasize just those constructions that are most needed by the pupils. The entire field of high-school Latin is covered, and elaborate tables give the information in the clearest possible form. 64 pages, 8vo, cloth, net, 75 cents; postpaid, 83 cents.

FICTION

Hilary Thornton

By HUBERT WALES, author of "Cynthia in the Wilderness," "The Old Allegiance," etc. In "Hilary Thornton," superadded to a story of piercing emotion are conceptions of public life and private duty, which, though they touch upon matters of opinion, do not tend to lessen the power and interest and vitality of the story, which is better expressed, better thought out, and more mature than Mr. Wales' previous books, and which can be conscientiously and, indeed, warmly recommended. Cloth, 12mo..... $1 50

Servitude

By IRENE OSGOOD, author of "To a Nun Confess'd." Miss Osgood has built her thrilling historical novel on those troublous times following the War of 1812, when the Mediterranean was given over to the corsairs. Christian slavery in all its hideousness is portrayed with fidelity and detail that at times is almost heartrending. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

To a Nun Confess'd

By IRENE OSGOOD, author of "An Idol's Passion," "The Shadow of Desire," "The Chant of a Lonely Soul," etc. These sacredly intimate confessions of the innermost thoughts of a woman of unusual temperament are supposed to have been rescued from a convent during the recent religious disturbances in France. Here is a woman's soul laid bare. Cloth, 12mo... 1 50

A Bride on Trust

By CAPTAIN HENRY CURTIES, author of "The Queen's Gate Mystery," "The Idol of the King," "Tears of Angels," "An Imperial Love Story," "Dorothy Salvington." Captain Curties has given us another thrilling romance of to-day, the theme of which is the undaunted love of a Lieutenant in His Majesty's Imperial Guards for a beautiful woman whose acquaintance he makes under peculiar circumstances. Daring death and other dangers this brave youth claims her as his wife—truly a bride on trust, for he takes her knowing nothing of her past, fearing nothing for the future. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

Only Betty

By CURTIS YORKE, author of "The Other Sara," "Their Marriage," "The World and Delia," "The Girl and the Man," "Mollie Devines." "Only Betty" is just Betty—a dear, sweet and lovable little English girl, to whom one's heart goes out with a great longing to assist during those hours of doubt, misgiving and sorrow. You just have to love her—she is so lovable. It is a clean and pretty story, sweetly told, with the delightful environment of a quaint coast village in Wales. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

The Girl and the Man

By CURTIS YORKE, author of "The Other Sara," "A Flirtation with Truth," "The Girl in Grey," "Delphine," "Olive Kinsella," "The World and Delia," "Only Betty," "Irresponsible Kitty," etc. "The Girl and the Man" is the love story of a strong man and a brave little woman—virulent personalities in an environment that is rough—uncouth, perhaps—yet ennobling with its solemn mountains and its solitude. The story never lags and is one of the very best of her many novels that have a wide circle of readers on the other side of the water. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

The World and Delia

By CURTIS YORKE, author of "The Girl and the Man," "Irresponsible Kitty, "Alix of the Glen," "Delphine," "Olive Kinsella," etc. Miss Yorke, with her usual keen appreciation of human nature, has, in "The World and Delia," pointed—not preached—a moral. Briefly, it is that pride and obstinacy on both sides is often the cause of a lapse of love; likewise a blindness to love when the little god presents himself. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

Mollie Deverill

By CURTIS YORKE, author of "The Other Sara." With colored frontispiece of the heroine. The charm of style, the brilliancy of dialogue, and the deep note of sincerity which have conquered innumerable readers in the past, are to be found in full abundance in Curtis Yorke's new novel, "Mollie Deverill." "In the field of pure and natural fiction Curtis Yorke is well ahead of her compeers." Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

Easy Money

The Genuine Book of Henry Mitch, His Dilligent Search for Other Folks' Wealth, and His Urgent Fear of the Feminine. By BERTRAM ATKEY, author of "Folk of the Wild." In chronicling the adventures of Henry Mitch and Boler Mitey Mr. Atkey has rendered a distinct service. Typical knights of the road, one involuntarily respects their ability to accumulate square meals and their success in separating other folks from their money. Mr. Henry Mitch is a quaint character, with the saving grace of humor that is occasionally found, seemingly impervious to the blows of adversity. The story of their search for and recovery of the hidden treasure that proves to be the "easiest money," has a smile on every page and innumerable hearthy laughs for good measure. The numerous illustrations by G. L. Stampa complete a clever and entertaining book. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

The Mistress of Langdale Hall

A Romance of the West Riding. By ROSA MACKENZIE KETTLE, author of "The Grand Old Hills," etc. The picturesque setting of this attractive novel affords many opportunities for descriptions of Yorkshire scenery, which are charmingly sketched. The plot concerns itself with the "revenge" of the mistress of Langdale Hall, upon the man, who, years before, had preferred a nameless, penniless girl, to herself, the heiress of one of the fairest estates in England. How this revenge is conceived and carried out forms an entertaining story. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo..... 1 25

Under the Grand Old Hills

A Romance. By ROSA MACKENZIE KETTLE, author of "The Mistress of Langdale Hall," etc. An attractive story of English country life, which possesses a keen analysis of character, and many lovely descriptions of the hills, which from time immemorial have sheltered the homes of a sturdy race. The three charming heroines are cleverly contrasted; and although a mystery is interwoven with the development of the plot, it is not of a melodramatic type; and the influence of the book is optimistic and wholesome. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo..... 1 25

JUVENILES FOR BOYS

The Sarah Jane: Dicky Dalton, Captain

By JAMES OTIS, author of "The Cruise of the Phœbe." The second title in the very successful series of "Business Venture Stories" deals with the efforts of two venturesome American boys to manage and operate a small tugboat. Their pluck in meeting the hazards of this business, and their resourceful ingenuity in overcoming difficulties, fill the narrative with interesting and exciting episodes that will appeal to readers of all ages. Illustrated by J. W. F. Kennedy. Cloth, large 12mo..... 1 50

Unlucky Tib

By EDWARD S. ELLIS, author of "Plucky Joe," "The Lost Dragon," etc. Tiberius Marshall believed for a long time that he was the unluckiest youngster that ever lived. Tib's experiences seemed to warrant this dismal belief on his part, but, all in good time, a change came, and the truth that the reward of virtue is as sure as the rising and setting of the sun is impressively taught. "Unlucky Tib" teaches in the most fascinating manner its own profound moral lesson. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo..... 1 25

An Island Secret

By EARLE CABOT MCALLISTER, author of "On Tower Island." This splendid boys' book forms the sequel to "On Tower Island;" giving an interesting account of the further adventures of the heroes of both narratives. Mysterious ciphers, the suggestion of hidden treasure to be hunted for, together with many thrilling mishaps and adventures, make this volume, which forms a complete separate story, even more interesting than the one which precedes it. Illustrated by J. W. F. Kennedy. Cloth, large 12mo..... 1 50

The Minute Boys of New York City

By JAMES OTIS, author of "The Minute Boys of South Carolina," "The Minute Boys of the Green Mountains," etc., etc. This new Minute Boys story by Mr. James Otis is fully as interesting and instructive, if not more so, than its predecessors. The story has to do with that time in New York City from the middle of May, 1775, until the return of Governor Tryon in July of the same year, being chiefly concerned with the encampment of General Wooster at Harlem. Fully illustrated, cloth, 12mo..... 1 25

JUVENILES FOR GIRLS

Wits' End

By AMY BLANCHARD, author of "A Journey of Joy," etc. Instinct with life, color and individuality, this story of true love, which has for its setting a certain island of Casco Bay, beloved by many, cannot fail to attract, and hold to its happy end, the reader's eager attention. The word pictures of sea and land are masterly; while the poise of narrrative and description is marvellously preserved. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

FOR GIRLS AND BOYS

Chatterbox for 1909

The Best and Most Popular Book for Children in the World. No publication has even been more widely read than "Chatterbox." Millions of children in the past have eagerly welcomed "Chatterbox;" their children in turn welcome it no less eagerly to-day, while they themselves still continue to read it with interest and affection. The present volume of "Chatterbox" measures 7⅜ x 10 inches, and consists of 416 large pages, with over 250 original illustrations, besides 6 beautiful colored plates. Quarto, board cover..... 1 25
Same. Cloth, gilt tops..... 1 75

The New Chatterbox Picture Book Series

An entirely New Series, edited by ANNA ROBINSON, each volume of which contains over one hundred full-page drawings, made by such famous artists as Harrison Weir. The stories are all new and original, written especially for these books. The books are printed on high grade paper from large clear type, and the material is all copyrighted. Each volume contains a colored frontispiece, is substantially bound, with illuminated board covers, in new and original individual designs, cloth backs. Each..... 1 00

THE CHATTERBOX BOOK OF CATS AND DOGS

The Wonderful Isles

Or, The Adventures of William Henry Gunnersbury and Sylvia Richmond. By S. H. HAMER. Illustrated by Harry Rountree. With 8 colored plates and numerous black and white illustrations. Giants—dwarfs—white rabbits—black crows—and a Mystery! Where is Sylvia Richmond? This is a story full of adventures, with some of Mr. Rountree's best pictures. Cloth, quarto, colored cover insert..... 1 25

The Magic Wand

And What Henry Did With It. By S. H. HAMER. Illustrated by Harry Rountree. With 12 colored plates and numerous black and white drawings. He was just an ordinary boy,—neither better nor worse than other boys,—and the stick looked like an ordinary piece of stick—but it wasn't! What may be done with a Magic Wand now-a-days? This story tells of what a small boy did with one. There are pictures on nearly every page. Cloth, quarto, colored cover insert..... 1 00

The Princess and the Dragon

By S. H. HAMER. Illustrated by John Hassall and T. Butler-Stoney. With 12 colored plates and numerous black and white drawings. It was in the Middle Ages, when people said "Marry, come up" and "Grammercy" and "Ods Bodikins." There was a Princess, but she was not at all the usual kind of Princess, and there was a Dragon, but he was not at all an ordinary Dragon. The illustrations are some of Mr. Hassall's most characteristic work. Cloth, quarto, colored cover insert..... 1 00

Peter Pink-eye

The Autobiography of a White Mouse. By S. H. HAMER. Illustrated by Harry Rountree. With 8 colored plates and numerous black and white illustrations. The authors of "Quackles, Junior," "Cheepy the Chicken," etc., tell here another thrilling story of incident. Peter Pink-eye and his friend, Daddles the duckling, met with every kind of adventure. Mr. Rountree is again at his best. Cloth, 12mo, colored cover insert..... 75

The Buccaneers

A Story of the Spanish Main. By A. E. BONSER. Illustrated by J. R. Monsell. With 8 colored plates and numerous black and white illustrations. A thrilling story of Pirates, Ghosts, Red Indians and Hidden Treasure. Adventure follows adventure with startling rapidity and Mr. Monsell's drawings well represent the spirit of the story. Cloth, 12mo, colored cover insert..... 75

The Little Maid Who Danced to Every Mood

And the Knight Who Wanted the Best of Everything. By HELENA NYBLOM. Translated by A. W. James. Illustrated by Agnes Stringer and D. Andrewes. With 8 colored plates and numerous black and white illustrations. These two stories by Madame Nyblom, the celebrated Swedish authoress, have never before been translated and are two of her best. Bjornsen has spoken most highly of them and they are worthy of Hans Christian Andersen. Cloth, 12mo, colored cover insert..... 75

Little Red Fox

By MRS. ERNEST AMES. Illustrated with 12 color plates. A charming account, for the youngest listeners, of the doings of Little Red Fox and his friends and neighbors, Old Mrs. Owl, Mr. Squirrel, Miss Mouse, and Mr. Rabbit, not to forget Rataplan, the puppy. Square quarto.... 60

GENERAL LITERATURE

MEMOIRS LIBRARY

In the Shadow of the Guillotine

Written by GRACE DALRYMPLE ELLIOTT, intimate friend of Philippe Egalité. Edited by HELEN KENDRICK HAYES. These memoirs, written by an English woman resident of France, present a most intimate view of the horrors of the French Revolution. Being the personal reminiscences of a close friend of that most unfortunate actor in that terrible tragedy—the Duc d'Orléans—they are the more worthy of earnest study. Among the chronicles of the period Mrs. Elliott's memoirs have an important place. Cloth, 12mo..... 75

Colonel Hutchinson—Roundhead

The Record of his Life, by LUCY HUTCHINSON, his widow. Edited by HELEN KENDRICK HAYES. Although written in 1670, these memoirs were not published until the nineteenth century and are now modernized for the greater convenience of the reader and the student of the stirring times of the great Civil War which devastated the English nation during the reign of Charles I. A keen historical interest attaches to the work, since it is the true account of an eye-witness of the important events of that period. Cloth, 12mo..... 75

Du Barry—Enchantress

Memoirs of the Favorite of Louis XV. Edited by HELEN KENDRICK HAYES. In publishing these memoirs the author has endeavored to bring to the fore the better traits of a character that was redeemed by many admirable and endearing qualities. Truly she was an enchantress and in the glory of her voluptuous youth she revelled in luxury and love. She trod the tortuous paths of politics unwittingly, and as the Comtesse du Barry—the royal favorite—she became the instrument of political intriguers. Cloth, 12mo..... 75

Our Plymouth Forefathers

By CHARLES STEDMAN HANKS, author of "Hints to Golfers," "Camp Kits and Camp Life." The story of the Plymouth Colony and its relation to those stirring events in our country's earliest history is given with the impressive detail that is devoid of pedantry, while the style is simple, forceful and convincing. The work is extra illustrated with numerous beautiful double tone plates and has a complete index. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

Old Time Recipes for Home Made Wines,

Cordials and Liqueurs from Fruits, Flowers, Vegetables, etc.

Compiled by HELEN S. WRIGHT. This work will, we are assured, appeal to many. In compact but attractive form it combines a list of valuable recipes, and a beautiful and artistic gift-book. The compiler has been most thorough, introducing us to a wonderful variety of rare and treasured old formulas for the preparation of a great variety of home-made wines and liqueurs, over whose wealth of color and delicacy of flavor the eyes and palates of bygone generations of our country and gentlefolk delighted to linger. The volume is decorated by beautiful marginal drawings, by A. J. Iorio. Cloth, 12mo, gilt top..... 1 50

The Hand-book of Hospitality for Town and Country

By FLORENCE HOWE HALL. This is a most effective and timely work on a subject of interest to nearly everyone. The author, who is a daughter of Julia Ward Howe, is a lecturer and writer of great charm and undisputed authority on a very wide range of subjects. Her "Social Customs" and "The Correct Thing" have been through many editions; the demand for them continues unabated. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

Mrs. Parloa's New Cook Book and Marketing Guide

New Edition revised and brought down to date of December, 1908. The permanent value of this well-known standard work of household management and economics has been greatly enhanced by complete revision and the addition of a new section dealing with the latest discoveries and improvements and changes in Food Materials; their preparation, treatment, preservation; also useful alternatives to the more expensive foods, and the nourishment values of same; household bacteriology, sanitation, and sterilization; and modern improvement and simplification of cooking, preserving methods and apparatus, etc., etc. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50
Same. Kitchen Table Edition, water-proof cover..... 1 50

The Second and Completing Volume of the

Journals and Letters of Samuel Gridley Howe

Volume II. THE SERVANT OF HUMANITY.

Edited by his Daughter, LAURA E. RICHARDS, with an introduction and annotations by Frank B. Sanborn. The publishers take great pleasure in announcing the appearance of the only full and complete account of the life services of this most distinguished philanthropist. This volume deals with the many interests and activities which followed his initial exploits on behalf of the Greeks. These journals give wonderfully vivid accounts of a career destined to live throughout the course of history. Cloth, 8vo, illustrated.....Net, 3 00

IMPORTED BOOKS OF TRAVEL, ETC.

By Desert Ways to Baghdad

By LOUISA JEBB (MRS. WILKINS). With a map and many illustrations from photographs taken by the author. This volume is not a book of travel in the ordinary sense. It is a series of impressionist sketches woven into the main outline of an expedition undertaken by the author in company with another lady, in some of the less known parts of Asia Minor. Cloth, 8vo.....Net, 2 50

Michael Davitt: Revolutionary, Agitator and Labor Leader

By F. SHEEHY-SKEFFINGTON. With an introduction by Justin McCarthy and a Portrait. The stormy career of Michael Davitt, as Irish revolutionary, as agragrian agitator, and as international Labor leader, has an absorbing fascination for all who are interested in the Irish question, or in the growth of Socialistic democracy or simply in the story of a life of self-sacrifice and devotion to ideals. Cloth, 8vo.....Net, 2 00

The Bridle Roads of Spain (Las Alforjas)

By GEORGE JOHN CAYLEY. New Edition. With an Introduction by Martin Hume, M.A., and Recollections of the Author by Lady Ritchie and Mrs. Cobden Sickert, and a photogravure frontispiece. This book (first published in 1851) has been for many years lost to the knowledge of the public, but there have always been a few who prized it; a few from time to time have discovered it; now and then strangers have fraternized over their common knowledge of it. It deserves to be read as a little masterpiece of travel by anyone upon whom the glamour of Spain has fallen. Cloth, large crown 8vo.....Net, 2 00

Tramps Round the Mountains of the Moon and through the Back Gate of the Congo State

By T. BROADWOOD JOHNSON, M.A., of the Uganda Mission. With 30 illustrations from photographs. The country of which interesting and graphic glimpses are given in this book is one full of attraction for those fond of adventurous travel. The author describes the social life and conditions of the people, and his tramps up and down the country. The reader is taken for the first time right round the giant range of the Mountains of the Moon and into the Pygmy Forest beyond, and cannibal villages are visited in all their primitive simplicity. Cloth, large crown 8vo.....Net, 1 75

The Nun-Ensign

Translated from the original Spanish with an Introduction and Notes by JAMES FITZMAURICE-KELLY, Fellow of the British Academy. Also La Monja Alferez, a Play in the original Spanish by D. JUAN PEREZ DE MONTALBAN. With illustrations by Daniel Vierge, Illustrator of "Pablo de Segovia" and "Don Quixote." Cloth, large crown 8vo.....Net, 2 00

Illustrated. $1.00.

"A charming little book of northland myth and legend, with a sort of weird charm about it."—Chicago Daily News.

BEST NEW BOOKS FOR BOYS

THE NEW VOLUME IN THE BOYS' STORY OF THE RAILROAD SERIES

THE YOUNG TRAIN MASTER

By BURTON E. STEVENSON. Author of "The Young Train Dispatcher," etc. Illustrated. $1.50.

A book which is as instructive as it is entertaining. It introduces the boy reader to the higher branches of railroad management and at the same time supplies plenty of action.

JACK LORIMER'S SUBSTITUTE

Or, The Acting Captain of the Team

By WINN STANDISH. The fourth volume in the popular JACK LORIMER SERIES. Illustrated. $1.50.

"Winn Standish's stories are full of life, vim and action, and will suit the taste of any young fellow with the least sympathy for youthful adventure."—Bridgeport Standard.

MARCHNG WITH MORGAN

How Donald Lovell Became a Soldier of the Revolution

By JOHN V. LANE. Illustrated. $1.50.

"Boys and older folks, too, will find this a most captivating, stirring and informing story."—Pittsburg Press.

FAMOUS INDIAN CHIEFS

By CHARLES H. L. JOHNSTON. Author of "Famous Cavalry Leaders." Illustrated. $1.50.

Most interesting accounts and descriptions of those Indian braves who have figured with prominence in the history of our own land, written in that pleasant and informal manner which goes straight to a boy's heart.

A BOOK FOR THE YOUNG AND THE OLD ALIKE

THE JESTER'S SWORD

A Charming Little Allegory, as fine as "In the Desert of Waiting"

By ANNIE FELLOWS JOHNSTON. Author of the famous LITTLE COLONEL SERIES. Paper boards, 35 cents; Cloth. 50 cents; Limp leather, $1.25.

"The book is intended, by beautiful sympathy, for those of us who are denied the open battles, who are hurt or stranded or mortally sick and in pain. It is a bugle to the weak, a light to the despairing, a stirrup-cup to those who are down and who think to ride no more."—Louisville Post.

A BOOK FULL OF PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR THE YOUNG MOTHER, AND OF GREAT VALUE TO THE TEACHER

THE KINDERGARTEN IN THE HOME

By CARRIE S. NEWMAN. Illustrated. $1.50.

"From the frank announcement of the author that her object is to present in a simple and attractive form some of the truths underlying Froebel's system of education, to the final lines which show that in the homestead wherein are placed her characters all was sunshine, happiness and reverence for one another, this book is particularly timely and interesting."—Chicago Record Herald.

From Page's List

Imitation

From Page's List

Is the Sincerest Form of Flattery

At the same time we confess our surprise that an important and long established house, with an honorable reputation and a splendid list of books of its own should have listened to the Song of the Syren—(salesman) and have issued so close an imitation of 4 (so far) of the volumes of Our Popular Educational Books

THE LITTLE COUSIN SERIES (TRADE MARK) Now 39 Titles

the publication of which we started eight years ago.

The imitation, judging from their advertisement and from the "noiseless" efforts of their head syren (we mean salesman) is as close as the limitations of copyright will allow. The list price is the same, 60 cents. Will the trade price be? That is the question.

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and in the present instance some good has resulted from the "piracy"—we mean "flattery"—that is some good to the Bookseller, the Librarian, and the Educator—as follows: Believing with our imitator that books of real educational value have a large and permanent circulation, realizing with him that the lower the price the bigger the circulation, and desiring (with him?) to have the circulation as large as possible

We Beg to Announce that on and after this day, for one year, we will supply all orders from the Trade for the four following volumes

OUR LITTLE IRISH COUSIN
OUR LITTLE ITALIAN COUSIN
OUR LITTLE JAPANESE COUSIN and OUR LITTLE MEXICAN COUSIN

at one-half of the regular prices. To illustrate: Orders hitherto supplied at two-fifths off, or 36 cents, will be supplied at 18 cents.

This offer only applies at present to the above four titles. But we trust there will be a generous response to this arrangement. Next season circumstances may be such that we will be able to make the same special prices—or lower on additional titles in The Little Cousin Series (Trade Mark)

JUVENILE NOVELTIES

BRIGHT-WITS, PRINCE OF MOGADORE

By BURREN LOUGHLIN AND L. L. FLOOD. The hero, Bright-Wits, Prince of Mogadore, is a suitor of Princess Garrofat's. The Princess while in love with him tests his (as she has done all other suitors) intelligence by arranging a series of puzzles for him to solve. The text is accompanied by this series of puzzles printed in colors, and at the back of the book they are reproduced in black and white so that the reader may detach and work out the problems.

The work is a distinct novelty, and in view of the "puzzle craze" that now prevails everywhere, the book, while written for children, cannot fail but to amuse their elders.

Profusely illustrated with full-page illustrations, many of which are in color. Size 8 x 10 inches. Inlaid cover design executed in colors. Price, . . 75 cents

BABES AND BLOSSOMS

By WALTER COPELAND. With over 60 illustrations in color by CHARLES ROBINSON. This delightful little juvenile is both instructive and amusing. Each of the forty-four babes is associated with a flower, and the verse is so arranged that the flower has to be guessed from the key given by the rhyme. The flowers are illustrated in color with over twenty other colored illustrations. A complete list of the flowers is given with just the information that will add to its attractiveness. Bound in Japanese style, cloth back, cover design in inks. Size 7½ x 5½ inches. Price, 75 cents

"NEW THOUGHT" BOOKS

THE NEW PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE SERIES

Stirring Essays on the Scientific and Religious Principles Underlying the "New Thought" Movement. By J. HERMAN RANDALL. We are living to-day in the midst of a profound thought movement, which has found expression in many different forms, each embodying certain truths, and each open to criticism. The writer believes that the time has come when flippant ridicule, mere criticism and wholesale condemnation should give place to intelligent insight and wise discrimination; that it is possible to-day to separate the truth from the error, always attendant upon the appearance of new truth; that the truly Scientific and Religious principles underlying all these kindred phases of thought, can and should be clearly set forth, and their truth applied to human life in the whole range of its experience.

I. The Real God
II. The Subconscious Mind
III. The Power of Suggestion
IV. Mind and Body
V. Man's Undeveloped Powers
VI. The Supreme Victory
VII. The Rebirth of Religion

The "Oxford India Paper"

Is universally admitted to be without a rival

This wonderful paper is a specialty of the Oxford Press, and is manufactured at their own paper mills. It was first produced in the year 1875, and has steadily grown in popular favor.

No other paper has yet been made that can approach it for its wonderful opacity, great toughness and softness, and its agreeable tone. The secret of its manufacture is known to only three living persons.

Its Strength

A strip of this paper only three inches in breadth has been tested and found able to support a quarter of a hundredweight without yielding: a decisive proof of its toughness and durability.

The Christian Nation says:

"In this their newest edition of the Bible, the Oxford University Press has rendered a distinct and unique service to mankind. They have preserved intact the old and proven and revered text of the Authorized Version, but have modernized and made it priceless to students and scholars by a wholly new system of references. For ingenuity and results, this system defies improvement and renders superfluous scores of other volumes which have hitherto been esteemed an essential equipment of every scholar's library. These lines are written after a careful examination of the Book itself, and no one can fully understand or appreciate its full value in any other way, but you learn for yourself that our strong words concerning it are more than justified, if you will send for their circular containing a reproduction of some of the pages. The Revised Version has never won its way into general use. The rank and file of Bible students cannot be persuaded to abandon the old authorized text. The Scofield Reference Bible comes as a delightful relief from such a condition. In it the Authorized Version is retained in all its beauty and grandeur, and its system of references supplies all the benefits of modern scholarship revision, etc."

Blaikie's Bible History

A Manual of Bible History in Connection with the General History of the World. By Rev. W. G. Blaikie, D.D New edition. Revised and enlarged. 12mo. Cloth. $1 50.

"A book of rare excellence. Within its five hundred pages the whole course of Bible history is analyzed, delineated and explained with remarkable intelligence, judgment, and literary skill."
—The Congregationalist.

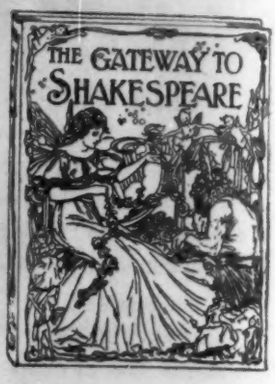
The Gateway to Shakespeare

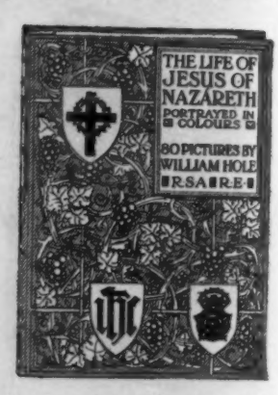
Small 4to, cloth extra, profusely illustrated. $2.00.

This book contains a life of Shakespeare; A selection from the plays and also from "Lambs" tales. These are all told in such simple language that they can be understood by children. There are sixteen full-page colored illustrations, marginal drawings and also many others.



The Life of Jesus of Nazareth

Reproductions in color facsimile of the eighty water-color drawings by Wm. Hole, R.S.A., R.E., portraying the Life of Christ from the Annunciation to the Ascension. Each picture is preceded by the Bible Narrative, illustrated with introductory prefaces by the Venerable Archdeacon Sinclair and Dr. George Adam Smith, and descriptive notes on the illustrations by the artist. Extra cloth. Illuminated cover. Gold top. $4.00



The pictures in this volume, portraying the Life of the Redeemer, have excited unrivaled interest because the artist has striven to present the scenes as they would have appeared to a man of the land and time when they happened. They show us what in those great hours anyone with a keen eye might have seen, not only of the central figure, but of the earth, the air, the faces, the figures and emotion of the crowd.

QUEEN OF THE HOUSEHOLD

The Standard Domestic Science Cook Book

BY WILLIAM H. LEE AND JENNIE A. HANSEY

Marks the World's Advance in the Culinary Art.
It Covers the Entire Field

NO ART OR SCIENCE IS MORE IMPORTANT TO HEALTH, HAPPINESS AND GENERAL WELFARE THAN THE ART OF GOOD COOKING.

MOTHERS and BRIDES will want it because it points the way to perfect housekeeping; CHEFS and CATERERS will want it as a correct guide to judicious buying, choice cooking, and proper service; INVALIDS will want it for the appropriate recipes for the sick and convalescent; SCHOOLS teaching Domestic Science will want it because it gives the rules of household management, plain and fancy needlework, the art of crocheting, knitting and sewing, as well as the proper management of the Laundry. It leads all other Cook Books because the recipes are reliable and inexpensive, and the instructions so plain that it forms a perfect guide to Cookery and Home Management.

Special Features Golden Thoughts — Things to Know and Remember — Fireless Cook Stove — Kitchen Measures — Time Required for Digestion — French Terms Used in Cookery, with English Equivalents — Food Analysis and Kitchen Chemistry — Removing Sinews from Turkey Legs — Maxims and Quotations for Table and Menus — Average Cooking Time — Kitchen and Table Suggestions — Foods for each Month — Wedding Anniversaries — Kitchen Don'ts

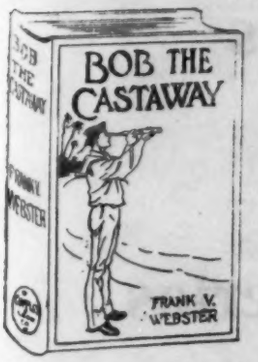
WEBSTER SERIES FOR BOYS

By FRANK V. WEBSTER

(the acknowledged successor to Horatio Alger, Jr.)



WE think we have made a distinct find in Mr. Frank V. Webster, who is under contract to write exclusively for us. Mr. Webster's style is much like that of the late-lamented Horatio Alger, Jr., but his tales are all up-to-date. Mr. Webster demanded that the books be marketed at a price that would bring them within the reach of all boys, hence the unusually low figure on these new copyrighted volumes.

TOM THE TELEPHONE BOY; or, The Mystery of a Message
ONLY A FARM BOY; or, Dan Hardy's Rise in Life
THE BOY FROM THE RANCH; or, Roy Bradner's City Experiences
THE YOUNG TREASURE HUNTER; or, Fred Stanley's Trip to Alaska
BOB THE CASTAWAY; or, The Wreck of the Eagle
THE YOUNG FIREMEN OF LAKEVILLE; or, Herbert Dare's Pluck
THE NEWSBOY PARTNERS; or, Who Was Dick Box?
THE BOY PILOT OF THE LAKES; or, Nat Morton's Perils
TWO BOY GOLD MINERS; or, Lost in the Mountains
JACK THE RUNAWAY; or, On the Road with a Circus

A SUGGESTION

¶ Last fall Edward Salisbury Fields' SIX CYLINDER COURTSHIPS was one of the biggest sellers and probably the daintiest volume of all the Popular Editions, and its sale exceeded our expectations to such an extent that we were totally unable to fill "repeat" orders for it in December, although we had printed a very large edition in anticipation of such demand. We permitted the book to remain out of print during the first nine months of this year, believing that it would be a mistake to allow so attractive a Holiday proposition to become "stale" by being seen on the counters throughout the year.

¶ We believe the book will sell as largely this year as last and probably more so, owing to the increased interest in motoring, and especially in "sixes," and although we have made preparations for a very large sale, we expect to have the same experience as last year, namely, more orders than we can fill in December.

¶ Do you know of a better 50-cent proposition than this bright, breezy and clever automobile story with its dainty binding and illustrations by Fisher and Underwood? Order enough of them to make an effective window display, and your customers will do the rest.

FORTHCOMING BOOKS

The Education of the Will

A theoretical and practical discussion with suggestions and exercises for strengthening will power. By JULES PAYOT, Litt.D., Ph.D., Rector of the Academy of Aix, France. Translated from the French by Smith Ely Jelliffe, M.D., Visiting Neurologist, City Hospital, Instructor in Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Columbia University, N. Y.; translator of Dubois's "Psychic Treatment of Nervous Disorders." Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.50, net. (October)

The Doors of Life or Little Studies in Self-Healing

By WALTER DEVOE. In his preface Mr. DeVoe says experience has taught him that "the words contained in this little book are vital words, charged with healing potency for every receptive mind." While he is aware that, to the critical intellect, they may mean little or nothing, yet "to the soul for whom alone they were written they will prove veritable keys to the doors of life." Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00, net. (October)

The Spirit of the Ghetto

(Revised Edition.) No other book has ever given so clear an insight into the life of the Jewish East Side. The illustrations by Joseph Epstein have already awakened commendation because, not only of their quaintness, but of their truth to life as Mr. Epstein has known and observed it. By HUTCHINS HAPGOOD. Cloth, 12mo, Price, $1.25, net. (Now Ready)

The Students' Standard Dictionary

Full Morrocco, Thin Paper Edition, Revised and Enlarged. This thin paper edition of the Students' Standard Dictionary is printed on a fine quality of Bible paper, thus very materially reducing the weight. Bound flexibly in Morocco, full gilt edges, silk head-bands, gold-veined marble paper linings and cloth joints, thumb-index. It makes a volume of the utmost durability. This is the ideal dictionary for the general use of teachers, school pupils, home and office use of business men, and all who desire a work that is reliable, handy, and that is bound for a lifetime of practical usage. This dictionary is wonderfully comprehensive in vocabulary, and contains hundreds of modern terms not found in any other abridged dictionary. Price, $5.00. (October)

The History of Socialism in the United States

(Revised Edition.) Since the first edition of this work was published, about ten years have elapsed and many changes have taken place in the great social movement. No one is better fitted for the task of recording the facts than the author. The first edition has passed through four printings, and this new edition, which has been brought up to date, will be necessary in every well-appointed library. By MORRIS HILLQUIT. Cloth. Price, $1.50, net. (Ready in December)

The Problems of Youth

A series of discourses for young people on themes from the Book of Proverbs by LOUIS ALBERT BANKS, D.D., consisting of thirty character-building talks delivered at different times to congregations of young men and women. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.30, net. (October)

Washington Its Sights and Insights

(Revised Edition.) This work has been in such constant demand, since it was first issued several years ago, that the author has been asked to revise it thoroughly for a new edition. This revision has extended, not only to the text, which has been recast to the extent of rewriting many pages and bringing down to date statements contained in a great many others, but has included also the illustrations, many new ones being introduced. The volume now forms in its new shape a complete picture of the interesting streets, public buildings, and grounds of the National capital. By HARRIET EARHART MONROE. Attractively bound in Cloth. Price, $1.00, net. (Now Ready)

Speeches of William Jennings Bryan

With a biographical introduction by MARY BAIRD BRYAN, his wife. In two volumes, 12mo. Each volume with portrait frontispiece. Sold separately or in a set. Price, $1.00, net, per volume. (October)

ALTEMUS' ILLUSTRATED

Motor Boat Club Series

By H. IRVING HANCOCK

The key-note of these books is manliness. The stories are wonderfully entertaining, and at the same time sound and wholesome. The plots are ingenious, the action swift, and the moral tone wholly healthful. No boy will willingly lay down an unfinished book in this series; at the same time he will form a taste for good literature and the glory of right living.

1. The Motor Boat Club of the Kennebec;

Or, The Secret of Smugglers' Island.

A clean-cut, powerful and fascinating story of boys bred on the coast of Maine, who take to motor-boating and qualify as experts. The story moves with intense rapidity, taking the characters through a whirl of adventures of the kind that most appeal to a boy. There is a flavor of Captain Marryat in the story; the plot is live and pulsing, and the time to-day. Grit, push and persistency are splendidly portrayed.

2. The Motor Boat Club at Nantucket;

Or, The Mystery of the Dunstan Heir.

Here the scene shifts to the Cape Cod waterways. It is a wonderful story of a great inheritance, and of plot and counterplot around the efforts to keep "the luckiest boy alive" from coming into his own. The Motor Boat Club boys play a stirring part in their efforts to right a huge wrong. The salt spray dashes through the story, and makes a boy love the sea and deeds of daring there. It is the sort of book calculated to keep alive the old time American spirit in our younger manhood.

3. The Motor Boat Club off Long Island;

Or, A Daring Marine Game at Racing Speed.

If a better story for boys, or one that will fascinate them more thoroughly, has been written, we do not recall it. Racing craft dart over the deep blue water and in and out of fogs. They make new records, and the boys of the Motor Boat Club are on hand in this stirring work. As the boats dart on their way they spin through the mazes of a great story of mystery and daring. No boy can lay this book aside until he has discovered "how it all comes out." Nor can he learn this in the last few pages. It is a compact sea-tale that requires the whole book in the telling.

New Books for the Fall Season

Aspects of the Spiritual

By the Rev. J. BRIERLEY. (Ready October 1st.) 12mo, cloth. $1.40 net. Post 10c.

No religious thinker and writer receives a warmer welcome from a wider circle of readers, or exercises a greater influence in contemporary religious thought, than the Rev. J. Brierley, B.A. Mr. Brierley, judging from his quotations and literary references, appears to have taken all literature for his province, but he is no dry-as-dust scholastic. He does his own thinking, and draws on the Fathers, on mediæval writers, on the modern classics, and on the novelists, poets and philosophers of his own time for his illustrations.

Joy in God

By the Rt. Rev. A. F. WINNINGTON INGRAM, D.D., Bishop of London. (Ready October 1st.) 12mo, cloth. 60 cts. net. Post 8c.

Containing seventeen addresses delivered during the Lent Mission, 1909, with answers to questions following the well-known and popular style of the "Call of the Father" and the "Love of the Trinity." The Bishop of London has a message for every-day people and his words are in every-day language addressed to every-day needs.

How to Understand the Words of Christ

By the Rev. ALFORD A. BUTLER, D.D., author of "How to Study the Life of Christ," "How to Worship God," etc. (Ready Sept. 1st.)

Dr. Butler's original book on the "Life of Christ" above mentioned has become a standard work on the subject. His pursuance of the topic further and in a more important aspect will be noted with interest. It is a most valuable and useful book for Sunday School Teachers, as well as being a work of wide general concern.

The Journey of the Soul

By the Rev. J. B. C. Murphy. 12mo, cloth. 90 cts. net. Post 10c.

A volume of very excellent sermons (thirty-four in number), short, pointed, anecdotal and well adapted for lay-reading. The wide popularity of the volume has induced the publishers to reissue it in this cheap and popular form in "Skeffington's Sermon Library."

Why Not Get Your Share of This Live Business?

FIVE theatrical Companies presenting "A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI" are to tour the United States this year, starting this month. Two other Companies are presenting "THE MAN OF THE HOUR," and one Company is presenting that ever popular success "WAY DOWN EAST."

That means advertising, publicity, and created demand. Thousands of people do not have the opportunity to see these productions, but are nevertheless interested in them, and therefore will buy the story of the play in book form.

You should have these books in stock to fill the demand. They are issued in our line of POPULAR CLOTH COPYRIGHTS, a list of which we give herewith. They are all bound in attractive cloth covers, with new and separate cover designs on each, most of them being fully illustrated.

OGILVIE'S POPULAR CLOTH COPYRIGHT LINE

THE SEVEN WHO WERE HANGED

By LEONID ANDREYEV

12mo, cloth, 190 pages, with colored cover inlay. Price $1.00.

"I HAVE read with the greatest interest 'THE SEVEN WHO WERE HANGED,' by Leonid Andreyev. It is a wonderful book. NOTHING I HAVE READ IN A LONG TIME HAS MADE SUCH AN IMPRESSION ON ME, and I have read many books upon kindred subjects. THERE IS ABOUT IT A FASCINATION AND AN INTEREST THAT GRIPS THE READER TO THE END and is one of the greatest books of the kind ever published. It should have the wide sale it so eminently deserves. Not only is it interesting to any average reader, but especially so to those interested in the great problems of crime."

Very respectfully,
BEN B. LINDSEY.

Have you customers who would be interested in "The Seven Who Were Hanged?"
Thinkers? Lawyers? Judges? Socialists?

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT LITTLE ANIMALS FOR LITTLE CHILDREN

BY SUSAN HOLTON

The Children's Publishing Company

Cincinnati

THE author of this book spends her time making children happy, going from schools to clubs and from hospitals to homes, telling stories. Sometimes she talks to one child, sometimes to eight hundred!

This is the first published collectionof her own work and will find a ready market wherever there are little children to be entertained.

The book is just the thing for the Christmas trade. It is beautifully printed and bound. It contains five exquisite colored half-tones and many marginal illustrations by Katharine Maynadier Browne.

Beautiful Gift-Books for the Christmas Trade

MY COUNTRY

That Book That Appeals

Beautiful, Patriotic, Educational

"My Country" is an illuminated and illustrated version of "America," done by Walter Tittle. This book is 8½ x 11½ inches, bound in French Vellum boards, containing thirty-four plates in colors. It is a beautiful edition of "America." Each line of the hymn is given a full-page illustration set within an illuminated border after the style of the ancient missals and printed in color and gold throughout. In many cases the illustrations are striking American scenes, such as "Niagara Falls," "The Garden of the Gods," "The United States Capitol," etc. The words and music are given on the fly-leaf and each verse is reproduced in facsimile of the author's handwriting. It thus helps to associate ideas of the physical greatness of our country with the words of this patriotic hymn. It will prove a most valuable and acceptable Christmas gift, of especial patriotic and educational value.

THANATOPSIS

By WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT

Etched on Copper after Designs by Walworth Stilson

This is essentially a hand-made book. The use of type has been disregarded altogether. Both the text and the illustrations are printed from intaglio copper plates. They are thus blended into one harmonious whole, which reflects the sublime spirit of the poem itself.

There are thirty full-page etchings, of which one-half are strictly illustrations. The others contain the text surrounded by appropriate decorative designs. Every plate is printed by hand upon Japanese silk tissue, which is mounted upon Italian, hand-made, linen paper of beautiful soft tone and firm texture.

It is impossible to describe its beauty, or the honest workmanship which has entered into its composition. An examination of the book itself is necessary to a just appreciation of its merits.

The book measures 8½ x 11½ inches and is bound in half Parchment.

The Three Greatest Theological Books of This Year

THE ETHIC OF JESUS

JAMES STALKER, D.D.

Author of "The Atonement," "Imago Christi," "Trial and Death of Jesus," etc., etc.

This great book, designed as the author's most important work, is now ready. It treats of the ethic of Jesus, what was his moral concept of life, and its relation towards himself and toward the world. 400 pages, cloth, crown octavo. Net, $1.75

A New Book by the Author of "The Death of Christ"

JESUS AND THE GOSPEL

Christianity Justified in the Mind of Christ

JAMES DENNEY, D.D.

Professor of New Testament Language, Literature and Theology, United Free Church College, Glasgow

Net, $2.00

Extracts from Reviews Denney's "Jesus and the Gospel"

It is a study of the New Testament by one of the ripest, richest minds in the field of New Testament scholarship. It ought to be in the home of every Christian. It will be an invaluable help. This book will displace many other books we believe. It is a book for study. If you have two coats and wish a book sell one coat and buy this.—The Service.

After spending considerable time in the unhurried reading of Prof. James Denney's "Jesus and the Gospel," we place it deliberately in the foremost rank of the literary contributions to Christian theology of the present generation. The importance of this book at this time cannot be overestimated.—Congregationalist and Christian World.

I have just finished reading Dr. Denney's new book, "Jesus and the Gospel," and I can say that I believe it is one of the strongest books of the kind that the world has even seen.—Prof. Len G. Broughton.

It is a book of wonderful grasp on the material of the New Testament and has all the grip and acuteness of the best Scotch style. It will flash fire from the responsive mind, and will quicken even those who do not interpret the Gospels as does Professor Denney into hard thinking on this great subject of Christ's testimony to his own Lordship. For that is the underlying purpose of the book—to show that Christ testified to his own unique place in humanity, and claimed, as no man can claim, to be the Lord and Master of men's lives.—Christian Work.

JERUSALEM

The Topography, Economics, and History from the Earliest Times to 70 A.D.

GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., LL.D.

This important work is uniform with "The Historical Geography of the Holy Land," which has carried the fame of Dr. George Adam Smith to all parts of the world. It is not merely a work of vast erudition, but of entrancing interest, covering many aspects of the subject never before treated in literature, and is certain to become the standard work on Jerusalem in the English language.

N. Y. Nation

The work is a sort of thesaurus of information from the earliest times down to the capture and destruction of the city by the Romans, arranged in a readable and attractive manner; to the Bible student it presents, in relatively small compass, a handy commentary on the Bible, both the canonical books and the Apocrypha, and on Josephus as well.

Literary Digest

As a whole this is the most elaborate and scholarly work on Jerusalem that has appeared in any language. The author shows a thorough knowledge of all the ancient records and of the vast modern literature, and he handles his material with the soundness of scholarship and keenness of critical judgment for which his earlier writings have made him famous.
